Quarry is discussed as haven for birds

A RUGELEY quarry could become a haven for birds if plans to turn it into a reserve go ahead.

Wildlife group RSPB is in talks with Cemex UK, which owns the quarry adjoining Cannock Chase, about the transformation.

RSPB spokesperson Fen Gerry said she hoped the beauty spot would become an official RSPB reserve by the end of the year, but added that it was too early to confirm the move would go ahead at all.

If it does, RSPB will work to grow the right vegetation to encourage wildlife to the area, including butterflies, birds, snakes and lizards.

Cemex is obligated to help manage wildlife at the site surrounding the quarry as it is a designated Special Area of Conservation.

The cement company has been working with RSPB for around two years to draw up management plans for the site and to chop down trees there.

In 2011, the Telford-based firm won a Natural England Biodiversity Award for restoring 80 hectares of heathland at the site in partnership with RSPB.

James Baker, RSPB's reserves development officer for the Midlands, said: "They have done an awful lot of work on the site but they have gone as far as they can without conservation management."

Swimming pool opens

THE new swimming pool at Cannock Chase will finally open tomorrow (Friday) – eight months after schedule following a frustrating series of setbacks.

Leisure boss Councillor Christine Mitchell said despite the delays, the suite, part of a £6.5 million overhaul of Chase Leisure Centre, had "exceeded expectations".

Cabinet members were looking round the new facility today (Thursday) before the official launch.

Tributes paid to family man killed in road accident

A KIND, caring and considerate man – this is how the family of John Taylor described the father-of-two, who lost his life at the weekend after being hit by a lorry in Cannock.

The Scout leader was also said to be a loving husband and father who "always put others before himself".

Mr Taylor died as he crossed the busy A5 Watling Street, Bridgtown. The 43-year-old lived in Dartmouth Road, Cannock.

Mr Taylor leaves behind his wife Diane, children Beth and Ben, parents Neil and Betty and siblings Clare, Adele and Damian.

"He was a kind, caring, considerate man who always put others before himself and had a great sense of humour," his family said.

"The tragedy has come as a horrendous shock and loss to his family who would like to thank emergency services, medical staff at the University Hospital of North Staffordshire and all well-wishers for their kind words of support throughout this difficult time."

Mr Taylor worked as a housing support manager for 13 years and was also a Scout leader with Second Great Wyrley St Thomas More Scout Group for 15 years.

A funeral service will be held for him at St Mary's Church in Cannock on Thursday, March 14, at 11.30am.

Friends have been invited to the service to celebrate his life and a request has been made for family flowers only, with donations to be forwarded to the Housing Associations Charitable Trust.

Detectives have been looking at CCTV footage of the area as they investigate the collision, which happened at around 4.30am on Saturday morning.

A mile-long stretch of the busy road was closed off for around six hours. Floral tributes were left at the scene.

The driver of the lorry, a man in his 60s from Cheshire, was unhurt. Anyone who witnessed the collision should call Staffordshire Police on 101.

John Taylor – caring

Care home is sold for £2.4m on retirement

AN INDEPENDENT Cannock care home has been sold for £2.4 million after its owners decided to retire.

Ashcroft Hollow Nursing Home, owned by Ron and Jacqui Roberts, who have now retired to live in Newport, has been sold to southern-based Bluecroft Estates.

Mark Harris and his team from The Business Company, based near Shrewsbury, have worked with the couple for two years to complete the deal.

The couple opened the 45-bedroom residential home in Huntington in 1996. They ran Leacroft Residential Home until 2002 after first starting in the care industry in 1987.

Mr and Mrs Roberts thanked their 45-strong team of staff for their "dedication, loyalty and support" and The Business Company for securing the deal and removing the potential stress from the sale process.

Mrs Roberts said the sale had ensured job security for all of her loyal staff who allowed them to build such a successful business.

"After all of these years running the home it has been very difficult to let go but now we will start our new life in Newport closer to our family," she said.

Transport show saved

A TRANSPORT show that attracts thousands of people to a Staffordshire beauty spot has been saved at the 11th hour after two new sponsors stepped forward.

The annual Chasewater Transport Show, which attracts more than 6,000 visitors every April, was at serious risk of being cancelled through lack of funding. Last year it almost doubled previous visitor records with 10,000 people attending.

Around 500 classic, vintage and modern vehicles take part in the show at the Chasewater Country Park. The sponsors stepped forward after an appeal.

HOSPITAL FUTURE IS UNDER REVIEW

Traders help cancer charity

A CHARITY campaigning for early cancer diagnosis has been awarded a cheque for £2,000.

The Martin Woodward Cancer Trust received the money from Cannock Market traders who have been appealing for donations throughout the year. The money will be used to open a fast track diagnostic centre at Mid Staffordshire Foundation Trust Hospital.

Treasurer George Waddell, said: "We have raised £75,000 since Martin died six years ago and this has been matched by Macmillan Cancer Support. We are now in talks with the NHS and waiting for the clinic to be given the go-ahead."

"A lot of people could benefit from an early diagnosis unit and if there had been one for Martin, he might not have died."

The trust was set up in 2006 after Martin Woodward died of bowel cancer. His family are campaigning for a centre where young people who might be suspect cancer patients can go and be assessed. If given the go-ahead, it will run as a pilot for three years.

Trader Margaret Lavender, said: "We have had a lot of lovely customers who have dug deep in their pockets to help raise money for this wonderful cause."

Market traders have raised £2,000 for the trust, from left, Julie Last, Chris Woodward, Tina Law, George Waddell and Margaret Lavender

THE future of Cannock Hospital is up in the air following the publication of a report looking into its services, treatment and patients.

Options put forward by health regulator Monitor include overhauling the existing site, offering extra services or moving to a new building.

Professor Hugo Mascie-Taylor headed the advisory group sent in by Monitor to assess the future of Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust, which runs Cannock.

He said there were many options on the table for its future.

"At the moment Cannock is about 40 per cent unoccupied. What that means is that money is being spent on maintaining buildings that it doesn't need when it could be spent on providing care," he said.

"It is possible that Cannock could be bigger. It may be that in future Cannock offers some of the services currently provided in Stafford but the reverse is also true. It has to be decided what level of care will be provided and commissioned for the area and then buildings will be looked at."

"We recommend that there is a hospital in Cannock. But whether that is at the current site and in the current buildings remains to be seen."

The report by Monitor, which was released on Monday, outlined a £60-70 million transformation of both Cannock and Stafford hospitals.

If the proposals become a reality, Stafford and Cannock will be downsized over three years and the most serious cases, specialist surgeries and all births will be transferred to Walsall, Wolverhampton and Stoke.

Services recommended to be offered at Cannock Hospital include minor injuries treatment, physiotherapy and occupational therapy, ultrasound and X-rays. Monitor's

by Rob Colledge

Contingency Planning Team considered closing the Cannock site but found it would not solve problems.

George Adamson, leader of Cannock Chase District Council, said: "Keeping Cannock hospital is what we all want, so on that front it is good news. We have seen it go from a fully functioning hospital when it opened to now having just two wards. The hospital could increase its patient numbers and capacity by having specialist services based there which patients of other trusts in Walsall and Wolverhampton could access."

"In Cannock Chase we have the worst health levels in Staffordshire."

"As a local authority we will be following developments closely and making sure that the needs and requirements of the residents of Cannock Chase are being observed and met."

Cannock Chase MP Aiden Burley said: "This is a major turnaround from the approach that the former Mid Staffs NHS Foundation Trust board has been implementing over recent years, which has seen our local hospital poorly managed, under-utilised and virtually forgotten about, as all the attention has focused on the problems at Stafford."

Boys thrilled by trip to football club

Boys Brigade members on their visit to Walsall

YOUNG sports fans from Cheslyn Hay Boys Brigade were given a day to remember when they visited Walsall Football Club.

The group of 10 boys, aged between eight and 12, was given a tour of Banks's Stadium and even got the chance to sit in the home dug out. They went on to take part in a full training session with Walsall FC Community Development officers, before watching their team take on Notts County. After the match, they were presented with a match ball signed by the entire Walsall FC squad.

Ian Slyn, officer in charge at 1st Cheslyn Hay

Boys Brigade Company, said: "The lads were thrilled to receive the signed ball. They felt like they had been presented with a trophy from the club."

"This was a great day out for the lads, many of whom have never visited a professional football ground before to see a match."

The trip on February 16 was run by the club's community development team and was partly funded by councillors Kath Perry and Mike Lawrence. The company meets at Salem Methodist Church, High Street. For more information contact David Slater on 01922 416 670.

Swimming pools will be 'very best' pledge

THE new swimming pools opening at Chase Leisure Centre after numerous delays were have been described as the "very best". It emerged on Saturday that the three pools would be opening after a series of setbacks.

Roadwork in progress

WORK on a main road to Cannock is going along as planned and should be completed within the next few days.

Resurfacing works on the roundabout at Voyager Drive on the A460 Eastern Way began last week.

The junction is the gateway to the Orbital retail park, including Sainsbury's, Argos, Harvey's, KFC, Carpetright and Homebase.

County councillor Pat Corfield said: "There is slight disruption but there is always going to be when it is work on a major route."

He added: "There was a death on the road around 12 months ago and we want to do all we can to make the road safer."

Work is taking place between 9am and 3pm each day but lane closures will be in place around the clock.

Zumba invite

ZUMBA gold classes are being held in Rugeley on Tuesday afternoons. The lower impact classes are aimed at the over 50s.

Instructor Angela Hart said: "We want people to dance themselves fit to Latin rhythms, Salsa, Merengue, Cumbia and many more. This is a new class and everyone is welcome." The class is held from 2.30pm to 3.30pm at Lea Hall Club, Sandy Lane.

Originally the facility was due to reopen last August but cracks were found in the tiles.

Councillor Christine Mitchell, leader of culture and sport, said: "This is now a wonderful new facility that we hope will inspire people to live healthier lives."

"We are immensely proud, that despite a number of setbacks, this project has not only come together but exceeded our expectations."

"We are committed to providing the very best leisure facilities possible for the people of this district."

The pools are the final piece of the jigsaw for the centre's £6 million refurbishment which started in April 2011.

Exciting

The facility will be managed by Wigan Leisure and Culture Trust.

Chief executive Stuart Murray said: "The facilities at Chase Leisure Centre are now second to none."

"We'll be planning lots of exciting events at the centre over the coming months."

The main pool is regulation length and will be able to hold competitions.

The council said the small pool will be filled with warmer water aimed at parents and young children.

And the third pool has a moving floor area and will be used for a variety of activities including aqua aerobics, sub aqua and swimming lessons.

The pools will be available for schools as well as activities and group sessions.

Helping to celebrate women

Hayley Cliff, of Pathway, and Jenny Holmes, of Cannock Soroptimists at the open day CHARITIES gathered at an open day in Cannock to meet with and celebrate local women.

The coffee morning was held at St Luke's Church Centre on Saturday to coincide with International Women's Day tomorrow (Friday).

It was organised by Cannock Soroptimists, a group that works with local women and girls to raise public awareness of issues affecting them.

It was funded by a grant from Staffordshire Local Community Fund.

Cannock Soroptimists spokesperson Trish Mellor said: "This was a day to show what local women do and also to show what organisations are available."

"There was a real buzz in the centre for the whole morning. The event was such a success that Soroptimists feel sure they will offer something similar in the future."

Charities attending the event were Women's Aid, Pathway, Chase Voluntary Services, Oxfam, the Local Foodbank, Women's Air Cadets, Cannock Friends of St

Emma Jones with one of the visitors

Giles Hospice and Newlife. Also taking part were local businesswomen from Food with Finesse, Soul Care Aesthetics and Nails by Emma J.

Representatives from the charity Newlife sold jewellery and accessories, while Emma Jones, of Nails by Emma J, gave free hand massages and Soroptimist Shirley Brown painted children's faces.

Ms Mellor said members of the public who attended gave "very generous" donations to the foodbank and Pathway.

Grass fire menace on the Chase

FIREFIGHTERS from Staffordshire Fire service are warning people about the danger of grass fires as the region suffers a spree of blazes.

Around 21 grass fires, including two on Cannock Chase, have been reported to the fire service since last Saturday keeping crews busy for hours as they ensure fires are properly put out.

Prevention Manager Donna Broadhead said: "People who deliberately start grass fires don't consider the wider consequences of their behaviour."

"We are reminding those who deliberately start grass fires that not only do they risk injury to themselves and other people, including firefighters, they also risk getting a criminal record and being imprisoned or heavily fined."

Deliberately starting grass fires could result in a conviction and a prison sentence of up to two years or a maximum fine of £5,000.

Anger at attack on play area

A PARK in Burntwood has been attacked in a "spiteful act of vandalism" that has reduced parts of its play area to ashes.

The arson attack that took place over the weekend before last at the gated Chase Terrace Park play area has caused outrage among residents.

Chase Terrace Councillor Sue Woodward condemned the vandals, saying: "This was a mean and spiteful act of vandalism against local children and their families."

"This sets us back yet again but we will press for repairs to be undertaken as soon as possible."

Lichfield Council has already ensured the area is cleared of ash and debris, but Councillor Woodward said it may be a while before repair work can get underway.

Landmark building revived by estate agent

Owner Angi Cooney

AN HISTORIC building in Rugeley has been given a new lease of life after an estate agent took over the premises.

Councillors, traders and members of the public came together to officially welcome C Residential into its new Globe House office on March 1.

Owner Angi Cooney said she was thrilled to see the "near-derelict, run down" building on Upper Brook Street transformed back into the "proud building it once was". Her parents, Olive and Paddy Mulligan, cut the ribbon at the former Globe House Hotel.

Mrs Mulligan said: "This is a wonderful day for us. We came to Rugeley over 40 years ago and I used to walk past this building with my pram nearly every day with five children."

"We never thought that one day one of our children would own it all and that I would be up on a scaffold scraping paint off the brickwork at my age. "Angi and [her husband] David deserve this building as they have worked so hard and such long hours."

"Paddy and I would like to thank the local traders, the people of Rugeley and of course the fabulous staff at C Residential and C Lettings for getting behind them and giving support."

The business first opened in Horse Fair at Rugeley 10 years ago.

Park's revamp may include all-weather running track

AN ALL-WEATHER running track could be created in Hednesford. Cannock Chase District Council has applied for cash for the track at Hednesford Park. If successful, the money would also be spent on other projects across the district.

by Kirsten Rawlins

Council leader George Adamson said that he could not yet reveal which funding body the authority had applied to – or the nature of the other schemes.

However, he did say that work on the park's tennis courts is set to begin in the coming weeks, in the hope of having them ready for use by the summer.

Around £2.3 million is being spent on the revival of the much-loved green space in the town.

"Hednesford Park is now coming on at pace," said Councillor Adamson.

"We should certainly be starting works this year, with work starting on the tennis courts in the next few weeks so we can get them ready for the summer so we can get the maximum use out of them."

Confirm

"We're also looking to get some extra funding for more sports facilities," he added.

"Using this money, we're hoping to get a new all-weather running track for Hednesford Park."

"I can't confirm who it is that we're applying for funding from, or how much we're hoping to get yet, but I can say we're almost there, so fingers crossed. "Hopefully, we'll know whether we've been successful in the bid by the end of the month."

"Because Hednesford

Park is such a massive redevelopment, we don't yet know when the different works will take place, as they need to be phased.

"It's a job that will take a couple of years."

"With this extra funding, we're also hoping to improve the sports facilities at Hednesford Park, as well as everything else on there."

Whitehouse Brothers Butchers, Walsall Carpets, a new hairdressers and a new "pound shop" will all be coming to Hednesford as part of its multi-million pound redevelopment.

The Aquarius community facility and ballroom should also be opened by Easter, said Councillor Adamson.

This will include a dance hall and several rooms for meetings and community and recreational activities.

"This really is great news for Hednesford," Councillor Adamson added.

"The town's defying national economic problems, as the town centre and the park are being completely transformed."

Work includes the extension of the pavilion, featuring a community room, balcony and ground floor café and a new skate park.

Car parks will also be resurfaced, improvements made to children's play areas and a patio for outdoor events.

Jane Holmes, manager for programming, said: "We have improved so much since we first opened and gone from strength to strength."

Pool

"We now have a swimming pool which we didn't have before, as well as various pieces of equipment including tanning chairs."

"It's a great venue for members of the community to use and we are so grateful for their continued support."

Courses for horses gallop on

AN EQUESTRIAN centre in Penkridge will undergo a major expansion to meet increasing demand for its services.

South Staffordshire College will offer new courses and improved facilities for horse riders at its Rodbaston campus.

The first phase of development is due to end in spring. It will see RDA riding lessons added, along with adult summer residential camps offering dressage, show jumping and cross country tuition.

A separate cross country schooling course is due to open this spring.

It will include ditches, a variety of fences and an improved water feature.

And the BHS-approved centre – set in a 180-acre country estate – has already expanded its DIY livery provision to provide stabling and paddocks for local riders. It also recently resurfaced two of its arenas.

Sally Johnson, equine commercial manager at the college, said: "These exciting new developments will enable us to meet the increasing demand from horse owners."

Shoplifter took cheese

A SHOPLIFTER stole more than £140 worth of cheese to sell on for drugs money.

Craig Craddock, aged 30, of Rigby Drive, Cannock, was caught twice on CCTV stealing from the Nisa store in the town. Cannock Magistrates' Court heard he stole £147 of toiletries in January before taking £142 worth of cheese in February.

Ms Lauranne Middleton, prosecuting, said on both occasions he was caught putting items into a black bag. Mr Paul Jenkins, defending, said Craddock had a history of drugs. "Both these offences were related to drugs," he said.

Craddock, who was on licence for other crimes, admitted two counts of shoplifting and was jailed for eight weeks.

Surgery dates

THERE will be a councilors' surgeries on March 9 and April 12, 10 am to 11 am respectively, at the Community Church at the Fernwood Shopping Centre, off Green Lane Rugeley.

The Councilors in attendance will be Danny Davies, Ray Jones and Mick Grocott. (Liberal Democrats).

Licensee promises something for everyone

FUN and games are planned at a pub in Cannock after a new licensee took up her place behind the bar.

Julie Cooper has drawn up a programme of events at The Pied Piper, Pye Green Road. She boss wants to turn it into a community base where groups, clubs and teams can meet and plans to hold fundraising events for a Cannock charity to be chosen by her customers.

Among them is a Run For Home race in which teams will be dropped off 40 miles from the pub with the challenge of making it back without using any money. Julie, aged 39, is looking for a firm to lend them a coach or minibuses to drop off teams on the day. She is also launching a men's and a women's Pied Piper calendar for 2014.

Most months already have volunteers, and a customer, who works as a photographer, has offered to take the pictures.

It is a move back to the Midlands for Julie, who was brought up in Uttroter, and partner Martin, originally from Solihull. The couple, who have a 10-year-old daughter Eloise, ran a pub in Doncaster for five years but wanted to be nearer their family. They took over in mid-January.

Julie said: "We want to have real community pub. Any clubs who want to use the lounge to meet would be very welcome," she added. Groups can hold fetes in the beer garden. We're getting a 3D television for the lounge with surround-sound so we can show films there.

"We want to set up darts and dominoes teams. "People just need to come and speak to us."

Julie is now looking for a good cause to support and is inviting local charities to write to her. She will compile a list and ask her customers to which choose which ones they would like to support.

In Doncaster, she won Best Community Pub for three years running.

Portas cash helps firms get a foothold in difficult times

NINE businesses have opened in Cannock, Rugeley and Hednesford after taking advantage of a tax holiday. The discount business rate scheme worth up to £10,000 was introduced to fill empty shops in the three areas.

Volunteers to help out at tearoom for hospice

NEW volunteers have stepped up to the mark to help a Staffordshire charity boost its tearoom at Cannock Magistrates Court.

Around 10 people have asked to help at The Katharine House Hospice tea bar, which has been running for the past decade at the site.

Refreshments are served entirely by volunteers, and all profits go to fund care for local people at the hospice and in the community.

But the charity was looking for more volunteers to keep it running, and wanted people to help with just a few hours a month.

Nigel Connor, from the charity, said: "We have had a really good response, about eight to 10 enquiries, some of whom are looking for a regular day, some more flexible."

But he added they were still always looking for more help.

"Our current vacancies offer flexible working hours," he said.

For details call voluntary services co-ordinator Bev Wheat on 01785 254645 or email her at bwheat@kh.hospice.org.uk or go to www.khhospice.org.uk

The project was funded by a £100,000 Government grant – inspired by television retail guru Mary Portas – called the High Street Innovation Fund.

Five companies have set up in Cannock, three in Rugeley and one in Hednesford. The first to take advantage was Card Stop, in Market Hall Street, Cannock, and four months on manager Tom Banner said it was doing well.

He said: "The discount gave us the extra incentive to come to the town."

"We were in two minds and this really tipped us over the edge to go for it."

"Business rates are hard for anyone to deal with."

"We are very happy here in Cannock and business is going well."

Success

"It is great for the town that empty shop units are being filled and it is fantastic news that other companies have got involved."

"The council must be given credit for this scheme and we wish others would do the same. It has been a real success story."

Chris Plant, director of Chase Chamber of Commerce, added: "This is very encouraging for the local economy, as well as tackling the high number of shops in our town centres this scheme is also helping to create much-needed employment in this difficult economic climate."

"I hope, also, it will make it easier for people to get into business."

Chocs away! Raffle to help buy iPads

Michael Garbett from Crested School Wear and members of the Westhill school council with the raffle prize

IT IS every chocoholic's dream – a hamper filled to the brim with the sweet stuff.

And for one lucky winner of this prize, they will not only have the pleasure of gorging on the treats but also the satisfaction of helping schoolchildren.

Crested School Wear, in Cannock town centre, has put up the mountain of chocolate as a raffle prize to raise money for Westhill Primary School, Hednesford.

The school is fundraising to buy iPads to assist its pupils in the classroom. Raffle tickets will be sold in Crested School Wear's shop in Newhall Street and in the school.

Shop owner Michael Garbett, of Wolverhampton, said: "We heard the school was trying to raise money to buy some iPads, so we thought we would do our bit to help. We wanted to give something back to those who help us."

Raise

"There is about £60 worth of chocolate in the hamper, and with Easter coming up, it will be a great prize for someone."

"We shall have the tickets on offer in the shop, and the school will be selling them too. We hope to raise around £300 but any amount we can get for the school will be a real bonus."

"We always like to get involved with the community and our customers, and this was a great project for us to support which will have real benefits for the pupils at the school."

Crested School Wear opened in Cannock in January, relocating from Penkridge. The company also has an outlet in Stafford.

Tickets cost £1 a strip and are on sale for the next few weeks, with the draw taking place just before Easter.

Print firm comes to aid of fund day

A CANNOCK digital print firm has played its part in helping Birmingham Children's Hospital raise more than £2000 from a fund day it held to help pay for a new cancer centre.

PRINTmaster, of Rumer Hill Road, provided all the printing of the 300 tickets for the event. Managing director Steph Onion said: "We immediately said yes when approached by Birmingham Children's Hospital."

"We understand that two other large printing firms had refused to help without payment and so we stepped in to provide the printing service free of charge."

"We are overjoyed at how much has been raised and I am particularly honoured that we played a part in helping to raise cash that would go towards the building of the new cancer centre."

AT the moment our towns and cities need all the help they can get, so it is heartening to see that a vacant unit in one struggling town centre is about to be converted into a bistro.

And very nice it looks too. But given that the bistro in question is in the heart of the Black Country, I'm not too sure about the name.

The Crepe Station. Am I the only one who sees a problem with this?

A SAD story about the couple who got divorced following a row about the wife's map-reading skills during a wine-tasting tour of France.

It makes you wonder whether, 50 years from now, golden wedding couples will be citing a good sat-nav system as the key to a long happy marriage. Indeed, in today's technology-obsessed society, there are probably some who would consider their sat-nav to make the perfect spouse.

While it doesn't listen to you and gives out instructions in a hectoring tone, you can at least turn the sound off when it gets annoying.

And then, when you find yourself lost in some farmer's field miles from where you are meant to be, you turn it back on, without having to admit it was right all along.

FACED with the worst shop vacancy rate in the country, it is good to see that civic leaders in Dudley are fighting back.

Investing £150,000 in car parks sounds like good news, particularly given that some of the money will be spent on repairing potholed surfaces. Oh, and they will also benefit from "upgraded" pay-and-display machines.

New pay-and-display meters. That's sure to get the punters flocking back.

LET'S get this right. Britain lost its AAA credit rating because the economy is riddled with debt. The Government is drowning in debt after years of living beyond its means, the general public is drowning in debt, with thousands of families struggling to meet their commitments. And the banks were drowning in debt until they were bailed out by the Government which is also drowning in debt.

But don't worry, the Bank of England has a radical solution. "Negative interest rates", in other words charging the banks (which we are financing) interest on their cash deposits (which belong to us) in order to encourage them to lend more of our money back to us, creating even more debt.

Sometimes there's a lot to be said for being a simple Black Country 'mon'.

Three of the limited editions of covers of Marvel Comics signed by Stan Lee that have gone up for sale in Cannock and are attracting serious investors

Comic covers are serious business

An exhibition of the 'Godfather' of Marvel covers has opened in Cannock. ROB GOLLEDGE takes a look SUPERHERO fans and serious art investors have been inundating a Cannock gallery with calls after some rare comic book covers went on sale.

Six limited edition Marvel covers signed by founder and comic book legend Stan Lee went on the market at Artworx, Cedars Business Park, last week.

Two of the pieces, costing more than £600 each, have already been snapped up. Only 295 of each artwork exist in the world and feature famous names such as the Incredible Hulk, the Avengers, and X-Men.

Versus

Gallery manager Ashley Corrigan said the items were not only attracting fans of the popular series but also serious investors.

She said: "Marvel Comics are more popular than ever."

"The pieces have attracted huge interest from youngsters who enjoy the new films to older people who remember the comics from when they were growing up."

"Marvel Comics have always been about good versus bad and doing the right thing so they have universal appeal."

"This type of characterisation and Artworx manager Ashley Corrigan views the limited edition Marvel comics story-telling had rarely been seen in the industry before and made it accessible.

"These covers are signed by Stan Lee the Godfather of comics himself."

He is still alive at 90 but we have had people interested in buying because they see it as a good investment because prices will rise once he passes.

"With fewer than 300 of these items existing you really are paying for the exclusivity of them. They don't seem out of place among other fine art pieces.

"They are respected and recognised for what they are."

"There is certainly a lot of interest and excitement about them and I don't anticipate them being for sale for that much longer."

"Marvel mania as I like to call it has seen a surge in popularity. It is just getting bigger and bigger."

She added: "This collection showcases some of the most iconic comic book covers ever to have been created, featuring some of the most renowned characters ever to have been developed.

"The artwork itself is not only incredibly striking - the intense colours, the bold lines and the way in which the essence of each superhero is captured in just one frame - but each cover communicates a wonderful narrative."

"What Stan Lee and his artists achieved here was to tell a story in just one image. The communicative style of this kind of art tells us about humanity, the struggles, the triumphs, the trials, the tribulations and that, is something everyone can identify with."

Explosion

Artworx is a commercial gallery and art dealership in Avon Road specialising in a wide range of original and limited edition art. It currently has more than 200 pieces of work on display. The gallery's range is constantly expanding, showcasing new artists and designers.

Lee's comic book empire has seen an explosion of Hollywood blockbusters featuring his superheroes and villains.

At Universal Studios Island of Adventure theme park in Florida there is even a dedicated area known as Marvel Super Hero Island featuring rides based on characters such as Spiderman, the Fantastic Four, and the Hulk.

Marvel took America by storm in the 1960s with Lee's creations offering an alternative to the archetypal all American superhero with his characters suffering from demons, mixed moods, and other vulnerabilities.

1983...

A WALSALL churchman's wife celebrated a very special holy trinity after giving birth to her third son with the same birthday.

Mrs Lilian Green gave birth to a boy at Walsall Manor Hospital on March 6 1983, having previously had Geoffrey on the same date in 1978 and Joseph in 1980.

A WOLVERHAMPTON church threatened with demolition re-opened to the public after a £220,000 facelift.

The congregation returned to the Darlington Street Methodist church for a service to celebrate the completion of refurbishment work on the listed building.

NEARLY 400 people queued for just 36 jobs at a Tipton foundry after workers forced recruitment by banning overtime.

The line-up started at dawn at Beans Foundry in Hurst Lane, just hours after shopfloor jobs were up on the noticeboard.

1993...

WOLVES slumped to a 3-1 defeat at West Ham as the football world mourned the death of Bobby Moore.

The main gates and concourse at the ground were turned into a shrine for the great man who had died days earlier.

STRIKING lecturers caused classes to be cancelled at colleges across the region.

Students were sent home from colleges across the region after hundreds of teaching staff walked out over proposed changes to contracts.

COUNCILLORS branded a two-year old boy a vandal after he left a trail of destruction in a remembrance garden near Wolverhampton.

The toddler was using a stick to remove the heads off daffodils. Codsall Parish Council agreed to write a letter of protest to the mother.

2003...

THREE jaguar limousines were custom-built by a specialist Black Country firm to protect Tony Blair from any possible terrorist attack.

The Government placed an order with S Mac-Neillie of Walsall to add £200,000 of James Bond style security devices to each of the vehicles.

A SIX-YEAR-OLD boy and his father were rescued from the chilly waters of a lake after their sailing dingy capsized. Two Wombourne police officers waded into Himley Lake, near Wolverhampton to rescue them.

TWO swimming pools at Wolverhampton's Health Town Leisure were closed for good, despite a wave of protests at a public meeting. The decision came after a report revealed more than £250,000 would have to be spent on structural work.

Tragic mother hands over road safety petition to MP

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson is presented with the petition by Michelle Clifton and, right, Mitchell

A PETITION calling for safety improvements in Cheslyn Hay organised by the mother of a seven-year-old boy who was killed in the village has been handed to South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson.

Heartbroken Michelle Clifton launched A Mother's Plea after her son Mitchell was hit by a van and killed outside the Co-op supermarket whilst playing on his scooter last October.

She has collected 1,550 names on the petition which was being presented in the House of Commons this week.

A copy of the petition will also be handed to Staffordshire County Council bosses by Councillor Kath Perry, who represents Cheslyn Hay on the authority.

Mr Williamson said: "My hope is that by doing this it will highlight the concerns that have been raised about the issue of speeding vehicles across the whole village and we can start looking at where solutions can be found."

Pleased

Mitchell, who attended Cheslyn Hay Primary School, was struck by a security van at the car park of the Co-op in Landywood Lane.

The MP said the supermarket had since taken part in talks with him and the county council. "We're hoping to focus people's minds and have an open discussion," he said.

"We're very pleased to have the Co-op on board. They want to know if there is anything they can do to stop such a horrific accident happening again."

"Everyone wants to work together to deal with the issue."

Campaigners are also calling for the installation of a new crossing to make it safer for pedestrians, especially children, to cross Landywood Lane.

Miss Clifton, who lives in High Street, went around the village handing out petition forms to shops and businesses following the tragedy. She also launched an online appeal over road safety.

Fire alarm plea over catteries

MY cat was one of 15 cats that died in the fire at Pine Trees Cattery, Cannock, on January 4.

I have just discovered that there are no legal mandatory requirements for smoke alarms to be fitted in boarding kennels and catteries.

The fire at Pine Trees Cattery was believed to have started two hours before a passing police patrol car noticed the flames at 5.30am and knocked up the owners who were asleep. If smoke alarms had been fitted maybe the 15 cats would have been saved.

If you thinking of boarding your cat or dog inquire if there are smoke alarms in place. I think it is time it is made a legal requirement.

I am going to try to get a petition to achieve this. Would anyone who lost a cat in the cattery fire contact me at jacquigray948@btinternet.com or write to me, perhaps we can all work together to make this happen.

Facts that were not mentioned

LAST week you printed a letter from Susan Snape who describes herself as a Cannock resident and council tax payer. True, but she forgot to mention that she is a prospective Tory candidate and the wife of Cannock's Tory leader.

She then goes on to attack me personally but fails to mention a number of facts that are inconvenient to her.

For example, the Tories, who currently run Staffordshire County Council, are planning to increase council tax by eight per cent over the next few years which will result in Cannock Chase residents paying a whopping £1111.93 a year just for the county council part of the council tax.

Cannock Chase Council has increased our share of the council tax by an average of 6p per house per week. Even this could have been avoided if Cannock Chase had not been given the second worst government settlement in Staffordshire, despite our district being the most deprived in the county.

She also complains about the increase in council house rents. Perhaps she forgot, or did not know, the increase was forced on us by the Tory-led government that she supports. We were legally obliged to raise the rents.

Mrs Snape also refers to the increase in charges such as licensing fees but does not mention the Tory alternative budget contained the same increases.

She needs to talk to residents. I get a lot of complaints about our roads. People are fed up with having to dodge potholes which damage their cars.

Call to sack bankers of our country

RBS has announced losses of £5.2 billion, and Lloyds TSB £750 million, but they are still paying £965 million bonuses for failure. These recapitalised banks should be nationalised, and the banks' greedy highwaymen should be sacked without compensation!

The excuse used by the Government that these specially skilled entrepreneurs - who have lost the taxpayer so much money would go abroad and manage other banks if we don't put up with their avarice culture, is ludicrous. No one will convince me these banks cannot be run for and behalf of the people by union and worker cooperatives - saving the taxpayer huge amounts of money to fat cats.

You don't have to be a genius to know that for decades - customers have been ripped off. Let them all go abroad and mess up other countries' economies, or jail them.

It pays you to get car insurance online

I TOOK out car insurance for my Citroen C3 1400cc in December on-line with Swinton Insurance at a cost of £130.65. Having ordered a new Chevrolet Spark 1000cc which I collect on March 1, I called my local Swinton branch in Cannock to change the car details. According to my policy conditions there is a charge of £25 to amend details.

I asked the Swinton's representative to change the policy and was informed that it would cost me £348.16 an increase of £217.51 despite the fact the Citroen is insurance group 6 and the Chevrolet is insurance group 3. I decided to find out on-line and was amazed to find Swinton's quote on Confused.com was only £132.17, which is £215.99 less than the Cannock office had quoted me and this was for 12 months.

I also checked for an up to date quote for the Citroen just to make sure that the Chevrolet wasn't a more expensive car to insure and it wasn't. So for an amendment that should have cost me £25 I was being expected to pay out £348.16 apparently because I was dealing with them on the High Street and not on-line.

I would advise anyone looking for a car insurance quote to forget the High Street and stick with your computer.

Time to rein in Hague

IS Foreign Secretary William Hague becoming the new Blair? Will someone please rein in Mr Hague and tell him to stop interfering in these Arab/Islamist uprisings. These Arab states should sort out their own problems and no British forces should be put in the firing line. Where are the rich Gulf states when help is needed? Perhaps they are too busy supplying weapons to the so-called freedom fighters. If you have money to spare Mr Hague, spend it the needy in Britain.

Stop this road spending

ASI drive around I am again incensed to see how councillors are rushing to spend our money on road works before the end of the financial year. Speed humps, silly kerb alterations to force us to stop and start more and thereby burn fuel that we cannot afford, re-surfacing, traffic signs, you name it, they want to spend it and we are forced to have it. Yet I am still steering around potholes. Who will stop this mad rush to spend when we cannot afford it?

Store car park reopens as boy racers move on

Sophie's cake-bake challenge

Sophie Mallen gets ready for a fundraising coffee and cake event

COFFEE and homemade cakes are on the menu for visitors at a craft and beauty fair this month.

The event is being organised by teacher Sophie Mallen, aged 26, to raise £900 towards extending an overcrowded children's centre in Modera, Sri Lanka, which she hopes to visit in the summer break.

The race is on to reach her target by March 27 in order to make the overseas trip with charity Aid-Camps. She decided on the project after splitting up with her partner.

The event will take place on March 23 at Chadsmoor Methodist Church, in Cannock Chase, Cannock. Miss Mallen, of Hatherton Road, also in Cannock said: "I'm really looking forward to going."

TESCO in Hednesford is reopening its car park on Sunday nights after a police crackdown on boy racers was declared a success.

Staffordshire Police gained permission from the High Court in December to outlaw high-speed racing and car cruising along The Orbital, Eastern Way, Watling Street, Lichfield Road, Walsall Road and Avon Road.

The powers threaten car cruisers with two years behind bars and allow officers to disperse gangs.

However, displacement from the order saw the new Tesco have to close its car park on Sunday evenings to deter boy racers congregating and racing there instead. It came just two months after the store opened.

However, the store has now finally been able to reopen its car park, and police say that the problems appear to have gone.

Aware

Spokeswoman for Tesco, Emma Capon, said: "The car park has now reopened on Sunday evenings but we will continue to monitor the situation and work closely with the police on this issue."

Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe, commander of the Cannock Chase Policing Team, said: "We have not been made aware of any issues at Tesco in Hednesford in recent weeks concerning boy racers, or any problems with displacement in the local area."

"However, we are not complacent, and our officers will continue to liaise with Tesco to prevent and combat anti-social behaviour."

Leader of Cannock Chase Council and chairman of the Hednesford Community Forum, Councillor George Adamson, congratulated both Staffordshire Police and Tesco for eliminating the problem.

"Boy racing is a nuisance more than anything but it's off-putting when you see them racing around," he added.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.

Cloudy2Clear service Cannock and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

All power to company as it picks up top award

TEMPORARY power provider Aggreko has won a top industry gong for its role in the London 2012 Olympics. The Cannock firm picked up the Favourite Power Supply Company prize in the Total Production International Awards 2013 in recognition of its role supplying energy to last summer's Olympic and Paralympic Games.

The award marked the completion of a successful 12 months in the UK events sector for Aggreko which also supported BBC Radio One's Big Weekend, The British Grand Prix and concerts in London's Hyde Park.

Bruce Pool, Aggreko's MD in Northern Europe, said: "We were honoured to have played a central role in supporting the execution of some memorable events in 2012, in particular the London Olympic and Paralympic Games, which allowed us to showcase the expertise of our UK operations on a global scale."

Store's raffle is sweet success for charity

Sainsbury's Cannock grocery department staff Lisa Wright and Debbie Crankshaw with some of the prizes

STAFF and customers at Sainsbury's have raised the mouth-watering total of £1,121.60 for charity after holding a chocolate hamper raffle.

Picnic baskets and grocery hampers were among prizes put together by staff at the Cannock store, who donated the proceeds to the supermarket's charity of the year, The Hibbs Lupus Trust.

Collection buckets will remain in the store until May for customers still wishing to contribute to the charity.

Store manager Mark Pickerill said: "We hope that this fundraiser will show our customers that we're passionate to give help and support. I would like to say thank you to all the staff who contributed their time. We are very grateful to our customers who supported this very worthy cause."

Police raids find stolen bikes haul

FIVE bikes are among a variety of stolen items recovered by police in Staffordshire.

The items, thought to have been stolen from the Cannock area in the past six months, were seized by officers during raids at two homes in Norton Canes.

The items include three bikes: a blue Boardman road bike, a black Cube Stereo men's mountain bike and a burgundy GT Chucker 2.0 men's mountain bike.

Two remote control helicopters, a black and red Volitation and a white and blue red Ark X 400 were also recovered.

Other items seized include Makita, Hilti, Bosch and Dewalt power drills, a tile cutting kit, a Makita router/edge finisher, a Ryobi nail gun and a Bosch angle grinder.

Sgt Dave Morris, of Cannock Police, said: "We would like to trace the owners of these items and hand back property."

"I would encourage people who own such property to check their sheds, garages and outbuildings to make sure it is still in situ."

Two men have been interviewed in connection with the seized items and inquiries are ongoing.

Anyone who thinks any of the above items are theirs should call Sgt Morris at Staffordshire Police on 101 extension 4274/4275.

Nursery celebrates birthday

A NURSERY in Heath Hayes celebrated its fifth birthday with a party. Families and small businesses from the community joined the celebrations. Children enjoyed games and craft workshops giving parents the chance to relax and mingle with other parents, knowing their children were in the safest of hands. The latest Ofsted report said: "Children feel secure inside the setting because staff are vigilant with visitors and with security inside and around the premises"

It is open from 7:30am to 6pm 51 weeks of the year and has spaces for children from up five, including free places for three and four year olds. It is also involved in a Government initiative providing free places for two year olds. To book a visit, call manager Emma Fox on 01543 448933.

Our site has made area better, claims traveller

Natalie happy not to celebrate

A HAIRDRESSER had to put her birthday celebrations on hold while she hosted a party to launch the opening of her salon in Hednesford. Natalie Bailey, from Huntington, welcomed visitors for drinks and canapés at Tangled, Market Street. The 24-year-old has been a hairdresser for six years and worked at SOS Hairdressers on the same road before deciding to set up a business of her own.

She said: "I enjoyed working at SOS but I've always wanted my own salon. I know lots of people in the community so I think that will draw in the customers. "My dad has done a great job decorating the place, it looks lovely. I'm really looking forward to this new adventure. I am very excited but also a little nervous."

The salon has created two jobs. Miss Bailey added before the opening on February 25: "It will be my 24th birthday but I won't be taking any time out to celebrate."

"At the minute my focus is firmly on the salon and getting it up and running."

THE owner of a controversial gypsy site in Cheslyn Hay claims her family taking up residence has improved the site.

Mother-of-four Amy Rodgers, aged 46, says before her family moved on to The Pony Paddock, Hospital Lane, it was blocked with rubbish and fly-tipped.

She said criminal activity which had been taking place on the lane had ceased since they moved in almost eight years ago.

Mrs Rodgers and her family were granted planning permission last week to double the size of their site, allowing a further eight pitches there.

"Before we moved in, you couldn't even get down the lane," she said. "It was covered in fly-tipping. It was still happening when we came down here, but the police have been really good."

"It's nice and pleasant down here now. We've been here for almost eight years."

At a heated South Staffordshire District Council planning meeting, councillors expressed fears the site would continue to grow, creating 'a small village on the fringes of Cheslyn Hay'.

Bigger

Mrs Rodgers disputed this, stating the site, which is built on green belt land, is purely for members of her close family.

"Our family's getting bigger now, with wives and husbands, so they like their own caravan," she added.

"There's not enough sites for travellers around here. If our kids get married there's nowhere for them to go. Out of my four children, one is married and another one's getting married."

"I think the people who are worried it will become like a village down here have seen Dale Farm. This is just for the family, those that are close. Gipsy's can't be on the roads today."

But Cheslyn Hay councillor Mac Harris, who stormed out of the planning meeting in protest, said granting permission for added plots on the site is unfair to other residents.

Thieves steal 'teapot' cafe's distinctive sign

THIEVES have made off with a giant metal teapot sign outside a popular tearoom at Cannock Chase.

It was stolen overnight from Spring Slade Lodge, Camp Road.

Owner Kaye Le Page said she was upset the aluminium sign, which cost her around £400, had gone missing and said it would only be worth a small amount as scrap.

The theft happened at around 11.30pm on Tuesday night of last week.

"I had let my dogs out and they were going mad, and there was something happening outside. I then heard a lorry or car drive away," she said.

The distinctive sign is in the shape of a teapot and was plastic coated in bottle green, white and beige.

"I am so upset about it. Everyone is saying they are going to help me find it. We will replace it though, definitely as it is our signature," she added, saying she would be getting advice from police.

Forced

"We have had so many people comment about the sign in the past, and everyone calls us the 'teapot cafe' because of it. I can't believe someone would do this to us."

"I just hope because it is such a distinctive shape that a scrap metal dealer spots it. I know I can claim off my insurance but I still need to pay the excess and it took a lot of time and effort to create the design and get it made around four years ago."

Last September the cafe was forced to close for three days after flooding caused £2,000 of damage.

Staffordshire Police confirmed the theft of the sign and urged any witnesses with information to come forward.

Last year, the tearoom was crowned Tea Room/Coffee Shop of the Year in the Taste of Staffordshire Good Food Awards.

Anyone with details should contact officers on 101, quoting incident number 332 of February 27, or call Crimestoppers anonymously on freephone 0800 555 111.

Putting the fun back into dance fitness

Stepping into fitness – instructor Jacquie Stokes puts youngsters and parents through their paces at a session

A DANCE party will bring fun and fitness to parents and youngsters in Cannock this month.

New dance craze Funsteps has launched across the Cannock Chase district, and a dance party event is taking place at the Civic Ballroom in Beccroft Road, Cannock, on March 17.

The classes for pre-school children have been developed by Community Wellbeing Arts, an organisation based in Wigan, and are also intended to help parents get fit by joining in.

A pilot project has been hailed a success and means that Funsteps can now launch across the district.

Local instructor Jacquie Stokes ran classes in a variety of dance styles such as Latin, rock 'n' roll, pop and nursery rhymes, and families were able to say what they enjoyed the best.

As well as the dance session, a purple alien character called Freddie Funsteps has been created as a mascot and will also be making an appearance at the event in Cannock.

The funsteps sessions have also been nominated for a West Midlands Arts and Health Award in recognition of the project's innovative work.

The dance party is taking place between 10am and 11.30am.

Louise Rose, from Community Wellbeing Arts, said it will give families the chance to do something different with their Sunday morning and keep children and adults entertained and active. She said: "We've had a lot of interest from mums who work full-time, and dads too.

"We decided it would be great to do an event that all the family can come to. It will be one big party.

"The event will involve everyone dancing to pop and party songs, learning Latin, and jumping to jive.

"There will be dance for tots and grown-ups too.

"Freddie Funsteps will also be making an appearance with his new song, and there will be free goody bags for children."

Tickets for the event cost £2 per family or will be £2.50 on the door.

For further details, call Ms Stokes on 07920 864767 or Cannock Chase Children's Centre on 01543 469894.

Councillors praised over JLR deal

A TRIO of councillors who helped seal the deal with Jaguar Land Rover to build its £355 million engine plant on the i54 have been praised by the Government.

South Staffordshire Council leader Councillor Brian Edwards joined county council leader Councillor Philip Atkins and Wolverhampton Council leader, Councillor Roger Lawrence as they were named Partnership Achievement of the Year winners for bringing JLR to the i54, on the border of South Staffordshire and Wolverhampton.

This week it was announced that JLR would double the size of the site and have a workforce of about 1,500.

The accolade was handed out at an awards ceremony at

The Lord Mayor's Parlour in Westminster City Hall. It was hosted by the Local Government Information Unit. Its acting chief executive, Dr Jonathan Carr-West, said: "We received a record number of entries this year."

He said judges had been impressed by the leaders' work. "Their joint efforts have helped create more than over 750 jobs and the country's first ever council-funded motorway junction – leaving an economic and manufacturing legacy that will endure for years to come," he added.

In a joint statement, the councillors said: "Of course it's nice to be recognised for the work we're doing, but what really matters is that jobs are being created."

Asthma attack boy says thank you to life-savers

A BOY from Cannock who suffered a serious asthma attack has been reunited with the paramedics who saved his life.

Kai Brookes had the attack at his home last September and ambulance crews found him in cardiac arrest.

They carried out advanced life support techniques and eventually managed to fully resuscitate the St Luke's Primary School pupil before taking him to the children's ward at Stafford Hospital.

The nine-year-old suffered a second cardiac arrest in hospital, but again was stabilised and transferred to a specialist unit at the University Hospital of North Staffordshire, where he spent two days in a drug-induced coma.

His mother, Emma Sleigh-Brookes said: "I remember Kai coming into my bedroom and collapsing on the bed. I immediately dialled 999 and the call taker gave us CPR instructions over the phone, which my partner Matt commenced."

Trust

"I felt totally helpless, and although I knew Kai was seriously ill, on the paramedics' arrival I felt such a sense of relief knowing he was now in safe hands."

"I was so relieved when Kai was sat up talking in the ambulance. Everyone had worked so hard to save Kai, and I remember thinking I didn't want the ambulance crew to leave us."

"I had built up such an overwhelming amount of trust with the ambulance crews in such a short amount of time."

Kai was invited to Stafford Ambulance Station with his mother and stepfather to meet with the 999 call taker and some of the staff who attended to him.

He was shown around the emer-

Kai Brookes, whose life was saved, with paramedic Matt Harrison gency operations centre and had a look around an ambulance.

Matt Harrison, clinical team mentor and paramedic, said: "It's excellent to see that Kai is doing so well. This was truly a life-threatening 999 call for the service."

"It was a real team effort for everyone involved, from those who took and dispatched the call in control to the role of each and every member of road staff that attended to Kai that day."

Incidents like this are what the ambulance service is here for. Unfortunately not every call we attend to always has such a happy outcome, but to see Kai again, full of life and so well, is amazing. This incident really does highlight that anyone of any age can suffer a cardiac arrest."

West Midlands Ambulance Service runs HeartStart courses, which include CPR. To find out more, call 01785 237341.

Growing ambitions of mobile accessory firm

A HEDNESFORD firm that has taken on eight staff in the last six months is looking for bigger premises in the area.

Bluechipworld, which has its headquarters in Hong Kong, opened its UK office in July 2009 and has been at its current premises at Keys Business Park for more than 18 months.

Spokesman Simon Hodson said it had run out of space to grow.

The company makes a range of mobile phone accessories and audio products in China and the European office at Hednesford, which includes a warehouse, sells them across Europe, the Middle East and North America.

Managing director Simon Hassell said: "The office is full and we've never had so many people here. The orders are coming in and the business is growing all the time."

"We need bigger office space, a bigger warehouse and a new product showroom. We're looking at building our own premises or buying an existing one, and we're weighing up the best route for us to take there."

The company, which employs 27, wants to stay in the Hednesford area but has yet to find a suitable building or site. Mr Hodson said it wanted premises to enable it to continue to grow. It expects to have increased the number of staff to 30 by the end of the year.

Elizabeth Wilson hands over the £383 cheque to St Giles Hospice fundraiser Lyn Shiel

Birthday boost to hospice fund

A RUGELEY resident celebrated her 90th birthday in a unique way when she asked family and friends for donations to charity instead of presents.

Elizabeth Winifred, known as Win, Wilson, of Sneydlands retirement home on Bryans Lane, raised £383 after inviting people to donate money to St Giles Hospice instead of the usual personal gifts.

A party was held for Mrs Wilson and the money was later handed to community fundraiser Lyn Shiel. She said: "We are very grateful to Elizabeth for her donation. It's wonderful to see so many people dig deep and we thank them for their support."

The money will be used to provide care for patients with cancer and other serious illnesses as well as offering support to their families and carers.

Blooming marvellous! Twins win Chelsea spot

Twins Jessica and Victoria Richards who have each won a place in the Chelsea Flower Show

THEY caught the floristry bug as teenagers at a college taster day – now identical twins Jessica and Victoria Richards are preparing to compete at the Chelsea Flower Show.

The 24-year-olds, who work at Lavender Florist, Penkridge, won a spot at the prestigious event after coming up trumps in their separate regional heats and they are now going for double gold at the May show.

Jessica said: "It has always been a dream of mine to compete at the Chelsea Flower Show but I always thought it was too hard for me to get there. It's just amazing. It's the first time I've ever entered and to get through to the show is incredible."

Jessica and Victoria both attended Pool Hayes Community School, Willenhall, and studied floristry at South Staffordshire's Robbinston College.

Frame

Now they have both been selected to create displays for Chelsea Flower Show after impressing in the heats.

Jessica said: "It took me about two months to make the frame and I spent two days putting the flowers on to make it look perfect."

It was made out of cardboard and wire, which she had to glue together, adding orchids, spray roses, chinchilla-berries and hypericum berries.

Her heat took place on Wednesday in Birmingham. While sister Victoria won her heat in Loughborough back in September.

Her winning bouquet was similar to a giant pine cone with dahlias, spray roses and hypericans decorating it.

She said: "I've competed at the Chelsea Flower Show before. Last year I won gold but it'll be nice sharing the experience with Jess this time."

The girls, who live in Wolverhampton Street, Willenhall, will receive their brief for the show itself in the next few weeks.

Fond memories in store at reunion

Memories of a 'happy family' working environment – employees at Clarke's Department Store, Cannock, in 1966

FORMER staff of a department store which closed 30 years ago got together for a reunion.

Ex-employees of Clarke's Department Store, Cannock, met at The Shoal Hill Tavern, Cannock.

The store opened in 1878 and closed on February 28, 1983.

Terry Wells, of Bilbrook, near Wolverhampton, managing director for seven years and at Clarke's for a total of 22 years, said: "If you worked at Clarke's for as long as we did, there's an affiliation between us."

Geoffrey Degg, aged 68, of Armitage, a driver for about five years, said: "If Clarke's was still open, we'd all probably still be working there."

Susan Humphries, aged 64, now of Leicester, worked there 50 years ago, having started at the age of 15. "It was just a happy family place to work – it was lovely," she said.

Former electrical department manageress Betty Dyke, 76, of Broadway North, Walsall, who was seeing Mrs Humphries for the first time in 47 years, said: "I worked there for six years, and it was the happiest six years of my working life."

Second

"I left the firm when I was four months pregnant and my son was 47 last week."

This is the second time the workers have held a reunion, with the last one taking place two years ago.

Anyone who worked at Clarke's can contact the group by emailing susan.humphries@talk-talk.net

Fight to stop Ivy House becoming site of homes

Campaigners are fighting to stop historic Ivy House being demolished to make way for a housing development. CAMPAIGNERS are hoping to save a 143-year-old Cannock building from demolition.

Ivy House in Wolverhampton Road, will be knocked down and replaced by 14 homes under plans from Staffordshire County Council.

The work will form part of the nearby Langbourn House redevelopment scheme that will see 63 extra care residential apartments, a doctors surgery, respite centre, pharmacy, cafe and hairdressers built.

But Wolverhampton Road resident Margaret Price is one of a number of concerned people who were hitting the streets of Cannock this week with petitions calling for Ivy House to be saved from the bulldozers.

Mrs Price said: "It is one of the few Victorian buildings that we have outside of the centre of Cannock. It is an iconic building."

"This is part of the town's heritage. There is a lot of heritage in this building but regrettably it is not listed."

Purpose

"A great deal of people in the town would have been born in Ivy House."

Parts of Ivy House date back to 1870 when it was built as the Penkridge Poor Law Union's Workhouse.

It later became The Chase Hospital and most recently used as county council offices. Former care home Langbourn House was demolished last year.

County Councillor Pat Corfield said: "Ivy House is not a listed building and is currently not fit for purpose."

"Any moves towards making it fit for purpose would be incredibly costly and not represent good value for money for council taxpayers."

Residents have logged objections to the plans citing concerns over anti-social behaviour. There are also concerns about the height of the proposed two and three-storey apartments on the Langbourn site.

The plans have been submitted to Cannock Chase District Council.

REVIEWHistoric inn serves up the taste of romance*Eating Out
Park Gate Inn, Cannock WoodCOUPLES could combine their love for each other with a passion for food and music back on Valentine's Day.

Not only did the historic Park Gate Inn, on Park Gate Road, put on a three-course menu, but musical entertainment was also arranged for the guests.

It was not without its problems, as the scheduled act was replaced at the 11th hour.

However, Simon Garcia proved a more than able deputy with his songs and sax appeal, even throwing in a request from Yours Truly at table 10.

Fellow diners also seemed to appreciate the night as they tucked into their choice of fare.

Options ranged from orange and mint soup, crayfish tail salad and chicken liver pate for starters, with caramelised pork fillet, blade of beef and vegetable crepes among the mains, followed by a choice of honeycomb cheesecake and Eton mess for afters.

Followed

Very nice it was too, despite the hiccup of bringing out our mains before the starters had arrived.

All food is freshly prepared at the family-run business with landlord Paul Donnor's son Steven as head chef.

Even at the age of 31, Steven has 17 years of cooking experience and followed his parents to the pub when they took over in November 2007. Since that time, the Park Gate, from its prominent position as one of the highest points on The Chase, has established a name as a leading function venue, catering particularly for weddings and christenings.

A planning wrangle over a marquee at the venue has been resolved, while the upstairs function room offers terrific views of the Long Mynd in Shropshire, some 45 miles away. Throughout the week, the Park Gate, which dates back to the 1600s, offers an a la carte two-for-£10 menu and attracts people from across the Burntwood, Rugeley, Hednesford and Cannock areas.

Because of its close proximity to Castle Ring, it remains popular with ramblers and dog walkers and has a large recreation area to the rear. Aside from its restaurant area, the bar offers a real rustic pub feel, with its corner niches and its roaring fire, serving award-winning Casque mark ales.

The Park Gate Inn is open from 11am each day. Call 01543 682233.

Lucy's plea for help on lost old dogLucy Ansell with Polly

THE search is on to find the owner of a dog found wandering in Penkridge.

Polly is a 13-year-old Labrador who was taken to EC Straiton and Partners Vets after being found two weeks ago.

The vets have launched an appeal to find her owners.

Staff member Lucy Ansell said the dog had a microchip but it had not been updated and they were unable to trace who she belonged to.

Anyone with information on Polly is asked to call 01785 712235.

Wedding invite

BRIDES and grooms-to-be are invited to a wedding fair in Penkridge on March 17th this month. The Chase Golf, Health Club and Spa, Pottal Road will host the event from 11am to 4pm. There will be a range of exhibits and specialists on hand. For more information telephone 01785 712888.

Network meeting will give firms advice on promotions

BUSINESS owners in Penkridge are being encouraged to attend a networking event to promote their companies.

Members of the Penkridge Business Association have organised the meeting where traders will be given advice on how to market themselves and gain support in their venture.

Treasurer Paul Caley said: "We came up with the idea after speaking to members of the association to find out how we could make more people shop locally."

"In the current climate it's difficult for small businesses to survive, so we want to show residents in Penkridge exactly what is available right here in the village."

"This is something we have wanted to do for quite some time but haven't been able to because we are all so busy with our own businesses. We are looking forward to seeing what ideas the traders come up with."

Around 40 business owners are expected to attend the meeting and if it proves to be a success, traders hope to make it an annual event.

The association has

by Charlotte Lilley

already begun preparing for the year ahead, with some businesses having booked a stall for the Victorian Christmas Market which will be held in November.

The group's phone book, which lists the names and numbers of independent businesses, will be distributed to homes in the coming month.

Mr Caley added: "You have to plan these things early. Last year we had the highest number of traders ever at the market so stalls usually get booked within the first few months of the New Year."

The meeting will be held at Mercure Hotel, Pinfold Lane at 6.30pm on March 28. For more information email anneg@musicmakers.demon.co.uk

Hamper helps to raise awareness

Raising awareness of Penkridge BUNS with a Mother's Day raffle are, from left, NCT breastfeeding counsellors Emma Derry, and Gemma Irving, Jo Aldridge, peer Supporter, and Heidi Dawson, health visitor

A MOTHER'S Day food hamper raffle will be held in Penkridge tomorrow (Friday).

The hamper has been donated by Penkridge Round Table and the draw will take place at the Horse and Jockey pub, Market Street at 9pm.

The aim is to raise money for Penkridge BUNS (Breastfeeding, Understanding and Nurturing Support Group). Breastfeeding counsellor Gemma Irving, said: "The money collected will be used to raise awareness of our group."

"We go into antenatal classes and offer advice and support to pregnant women. Our aim is to get people in Penkridge to know that they can come to us if they are struggling with absolutely anything."

The group has a drop-in service every Thursday from 9.30am to 11.30am at Penkridge Children's Centre, Saxon Road. Go to the group's Facebook page for more information. Raffle tickets are available at the pub or by telephoning 07429 525355.

Wheeling out new blue bins

THE first of 42,000 blue recycling bins have been delivered to homes in Penkridge.

They will replace the green boxes and newspaper sacks with a single wheeled bin for all recycling.

The move will cost the council around £890,000, which bosses said was less than £20 a house for each bin to be made and delivered.

Councillor Brian Edwards, leader of South Staffordshire Council, said: "The new bins will be so much more convenient than the old green box and white sack system. It will mean people can recycle much more and I'm delighted that we can offer this improved service to our residents."

The bins recycle and compost 50 per cent of what they collect.

Mother's Day charity boost

A PENKridge hotel and restaurant will be raising money for charity as well as spoiling mothers this weekend. The Bridgehouse at Stonecross, will donate £1 for every meal sold on Mother's Day on Sunday to Breast Cancer Research.

Owner Raj Dhandia, said: "We like to raise money for charities and good causes in the community and on this occasion we will be raising money for Breast Cancer Research which is such a worthwhile cause."

All but 327 county pupils go to first choice school

JUST 327 pupils missed out on their first-choice secondary school in Staffordshire.

Of the 8,185 applications submitted, 96 per cent of parents will be sending their child to their preferred school in September. A total of 99 per cent were allocated one of their top three preferred schools.

Tens of thousands of children across the country have been finding out which school they will be going to in September.

Staffordshire county councillor Ian Parry, cabinet member for education, said: "Obviously parents want the very best for their children so we try to accommodate their wishes as far as is practicable."

"The admissions process can be quite daunting for a lot of parents, so we do as much as we can to make the process as easy as possible."

"Giving clear guidance, plus working with schools in Staffordshire and in neighbouring authorities, means we can allocate school places efficiently and, in the vast majority of cases, allocate parents one of their top three preferred schools."

Increased

Nearly nine in 10 of pupils in Wolverhampton got their first-choice secondary school place this year. Some 86 per cent of pupils have landed places at their first preference – up by seven per cent on last year.

In Sandwell, around 80 per cent of pupils got their top-choice school, with one in five missing out. The number of pupils being offered their first choice of school increased slightly.

Parents in Staffordshire had until October 31 to submit their applications. Around 82 per cent chose to apply online.

Since November, the council's admissions team has been working with schools and neighbouring authorities to ensure as many pupils as possible receive a place at a preferred school.

Nationally, last year just over 85 per cent were allocated their first-choice secondary school, with just over 95 per cent getting one of their top three schools.

Raising toast to St Patrick

Rachel Crofts and Michael Smith get ready for St Patrick's Day party

A PUB is getting ready to host one of the biggest St Patrick's Day celebrations it has ever held. Revellers will be up for the craic at Bar Sport in Cannock on March 16 and 17.

On the Saturday the venue will be hosting its annual St Patrick's Day party. There will be a meal followed by entertainment from Dempsey's

Lot and party band The Craicers, plus Irish dancers and an Irish party DJ.

The following day there will be the chance of an Irish Sunday Lunch, which will be a five-course meal and entertainment.

There will also be an Irish band performing live on March 14.

Proposals to tackle issues of dementia

CARE leaders in Staffordshire have outlined plans to tackle the issue of dementia in the county.

Staffordshire County Council is forging ahead with proposals to create centres of excellence for those with the illness around the county.

This will reduce the need to transfers them from residential to specialist care as their health deteriorates.

The number of people over 85 in the county is predicted to double by 2025, with issues such as dementia and disability rising.

County councillor Liz Staples, cabinet member for adult wellbeing, said the council had been putting the plan together for two years.

Believe

She said: "Dementia is the biggest challenge facing the whole country and it is essential that this issue is tackled head on to ensure we're providing effective care and support."

"We have always said we will plan for the longer term in Staffordshire and this is exactly what we're doing."

"We believe that working in partnership with others who can invest in this issue will have many benefits in the long term, and allow us to give people the care and support they need."

"We want these centres to offer those with dementia the best care possible at whatever stage of their condition, giving them the stability that they need."

Apprentices get stuck in to a tree-mendous forest task

A NEW generation of trees is being planted in Cannock Forest by a new generation of forest workers hoping to join the ranks of professional lumbarjacks and jills.

The scheme will replace trees felled for timber and also form part of ongoing efforts to reshape woods to diversify wildlife habitats.

The Forestry Commission has recruited a team of 20 apprentices as part of an initiative to tackle potential future skills' shortages. They will work across Staffordshire woods during their two-year training, beginning at Cannock, helping to plant 140,000 trees by hand across 8,700 acres, the size of almost 5,000 football pitches.

They will also be carrying out surveys, restoring wildlife habitats and maintaining recreational facilities. Forestry chiefs said despite the march of mechanisation, planting still had to be done by hand, with a skilled operator being able to plant up to 1,000 a day.

It is a race against time as saplings must be planted before the weather gets too warm and roots become active. But it cannot be done in icy weather.

Carolyn Marshall, from the Forestry Commission, said: "The planting programme is vital so forests like Cannock continue to produce a sustainable supply of timber - a key renewable resource - well into the future."

"Apprentices will work with other contractors to get the job done in time and get hands-on experience."

She said by diversifying species planted, it was hoped to make the forest more resilient to climate change and tree diseases.

Help walk your way to being fit

WALKS are taking place through March under the Live Life, Live Younger volunteer led walk programme managed through Age UK South Staffordshire and funded by the Coalfields Regeneration Trust.

The walks are free and provide variety and pace at different levels. On March 15 the Cannock group is walking around Castle Ring, Cannock, at 10am (meet in the Ring's car park) and on March 22 at 10am it meet at the Toby Inn, on the A5 Watling Street, for a walk. On March 29 the group will tackle a walk on Cannock Chase, meeting at the Marquis Drive Visitor Centre, at 10am.

These walks are relatively demanding, longer walks, but there are shorter ones in Burntwood, Rugeley and Tamworth. Full programmes can be downloaded from www.ageuk.org.uk/southstaffs/ or call phone 01543 301 265 or 01543 674479.

Dramatic ins-purr-ation from a teacher and a cat

Young Wolverhampton actor Richard Astbury is returning to the city in the hit musical Cats. He talks to Peter Madeley about how he got into drama

A YOUNG Wolverhampton actor is coming home to perform the biggest role of his life in the hit musical Cats at the Grand Theatre.

And Richard Astbury is looking forward to playing in his home city. "Some of my friends and family haven't seen me perform since my school days," the 21-year-old who family still live in Castlecroft said. "The last time I played at the Grand was a small part in West Side Story when I was 17, but it's nice to return to Wolverhampton in such a big production. "Cats is a show I have always wanted to do."

Adapt

In preparation for his feline role, Richard was fortunate enough to receive some training from an expert. He said: "My character, Coricopat, is a quiet cat with the ability to see what is happening before most of the other characters. "Luckily I've got a cat at home called Shadow, and he was a real inspiration. "Watching him move around at home helped me learn how to adapt my body to play the role of a cat." Richard credits one of his former head teacher at Castlecroft Primary School for encouraging him to attend auditions as a youngster. He said: "Tish Keech used to send me out to auditions all over the Midlands. "She helped me to land lead roles in Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor

Richard Astbury as Coricopat in Cats, which coming to The Grand, and right, without his feline form

Dreamcoat while I was in Year 5, and A Christmas Carol the following year." Richard continued honing his craft at Smeaton School and also spent time treading the boards at Stagecoach Theatre Arts School and Wolverhampton Musical Comedy Company. Last year he gained a degree in musical theatre from Arts Education School, London. "It was the most amazing three years of my life, and a great introduction into the professional world of musical theatre," he said. Richard is currently in Edinburgh going through the final stages of rehearsals. He said: "It has been an exhausting five weeks, but the whole experience has been very rewarding. We had to learn the show in a short period of time, meaning eight hours of rehearsals each day." Based on T.S. Eliot's Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats, Andrew Lloyd Webber's record-breaking musical is a real favourite with theatre goers. Vicky Price, the Grand's PR manager, said: "Cats is returning to the Grand for the first time in a decade and promises to be a real highlight of our spring programme. "As the only Midlands venue on the UK tour, the demand for tickets has been high and we are delighted with the responses we have had from audiences so far." Cats opens at the Grand on March 19 and runs until March 30.

Riders join the Chase for hospital thank you

MORE than 40 horses and riders will canter 10 miles across Cannock Chase to thank staff at a children's hospital for their care of a little boy.

Jaiden Craig was only 12 weeks old when he had to undergo intensive surgery for a kidney problem. A year later he has made a strong recovery.

Now his proud mother Sarah Ball, of Vale Gardens, Penkridge, will gallop with fellow equestrian lovers across Milford Common on the Chase to raise funds for Birmingham Children's Hospital.

The 24-year-old mother of four said: "We are so grateful to the work of the hospital's staff that I wanted to do something to show my thanks."

"It has been a year since his first operation and he is now like any other 14 month old."

The trek will cover 10 miles on March 31 at 2pm.

Wanted

Miss Ball said she was blown away with the support from other riders.

She said: "I had no idea so many people would support us."

"I originally thought that there would be me and just a few friends but loads were interested and I had to get permission from the council because it has got so big."

"I really hope we can raise a lot of money for the kidney unit."

"There are children in there who spend months and months in the wards so even if the money goes on toys for them to play with it will be worth it."

"I just really wanted to give something back as the treatment and care through was brilliant," she added.

Jaiden's condition was Pyloureteric Junction Bilateral Obstruction. The

Sarah Ball with her son, Jaiden Craig, aged 14 months, and Fran the horse birth defect was spotted while his mother had a scan during pregnancy at Stafford Hospital.

Medical staff found that one of his kidneys was much larger than the other.

Miss Ball said: "Jaiden has been in and out of hospital for the last year and will require the occasional check-up. "He has done so well and we are really pleased with everything."

Horses have played a big part in Miss Ball's life for the last 10 years, after she first rode when she was 14.

She will ride her own horse Fran on the circular route.

Lorry worry as sat-navs send HGVs past homes

SAT-NAVS are sending HGVs rumbling down weight-restricted roads in Aldridge and past residents' homes.

Lorries are said to be driving down Dumbleberry Lane, over a weight restricted bridge and onto other roads including Paddock Lane, West Midlands Police said they would be taking action against drivers.

Fears have been raised the lorries are a danger to pedestrians who are also on the weight-restricted roads as well as other vehicles using the narrow bridge in Dumbleberry Lane.

Police officers have sent letters to firms in the area to remind them of the rules.

Stop

Sergeant Mari Amos, from Aldridge police, said: "Local neighbourhood team officers are actively patrolling the location in order to stop offending vehicles."

"Officers have also delivered letters to transport managers at local industrial estates advising them about this problem and asking them to inform their drivers."

"From initial information, one of the problems would appear to be an issue with sat-nav programming."

Complaints have been raised about the issue for the past two years.

by Catherine Dalton

Councillor John Rochelle, representative for Aldridge Central and South, said: "I've had numerous complaints about HGVs driving down roads they should not be. Some residents have even taken pictures of it happening."

Residents believe the lorries are driving from industrial estates in the town but instead of turning onto Middlemore Lane and Leighwood Lane, they are continuing to Dumbleberry Lane and Paddock Lane. It is believed sat-navs calculate this as the shortest route.

One resident, who did not wish to be named, said: "It's made worse by the fact people park on both sides of the road so you get these big lorries trying to get down narrow roads. It is a safety concern."

Hair we go

Locks of love – sporting her new bob, Georgia says bye to her long hair being donated to help ill children

AN eight-year-old girl has donated her hair to a children's charity that supports young cancer patients.

Georgia Dunn, of Clockmill Road, Pelsall, had a total of eight inches cut off her hair, and donated it to The Little Princesses Trust which gives free wigs to children who have lost their hair through chemo-therapy.

The St Michael's C of E pupil also raised almost £1,000 for the cause. Her original target was to raise £350, as this is the cost of making a wig.

Georgia came up with the idea after discovering a girl in America who had donated her hair on the internet.

Her mum Amy said: "It was entirely Georgia's decision to donate her hair. She decided she wanted to do the same so we went looking for a charity in the UK and found The Little Princesses Trust. It really is amazing, none of us can believe what she's actually done."

"To have raised what she has is incredible. We're all so incredibly proud of her."

"When she first told me about it, we did sit down and I said to her 'It's going to be very different'. But she said 'mine will grow back, their's won't so quickly'."

Georgia, who lost her great uncle last June to cancer, says she loves her new haircut. She said: "I'm really happy that my hair is going to another child. I decided it was something I wanted to do because I wanted to make a child happy."

Give yourself a fighting chance to watch contest

Some of the fighters who benefit from sponsorship from community and youth project Lionheart UK

LIONHEART UK, a community and youth project masterminded by Cannock businessman Brendan Lees, has organised a fight night on March 23 at Cannock's Premier Suite, featuring local fighters.

And in conjunction with the Cannock Chronicle, it is offer two VIP tickets worth £40 each as prizes in a competition.

This will be the fourth event organised to support local young mixed martial arts fighters who wish to compete in a cage.

Mr Lees explained the cage is used for fighters safety, as the sport involves the Olympic sports of judo, wrestling, boxing and taekwondo, and it prevents the participants from falling through the ropes of a traditional boxing ring.

The Lionheart UK sponsors more than 20 local athletes for clothing, nutritional supplements and training for competition.

Lionheart trains all ages up to 70 years old in beginners martial arts and fitness and the funds that generates, supports the young fighters.

Mr Lees said: "We have a community who support sport and youth which is rapidly growing in our local Ooops!

Another customer for ChipsAway!

Every minute, someone somewhere becomes another potential customer for Guy Eastment, Penkridge based operator for ChipsAway International, leading 'on-the-spot' automotive paint repair specialists. Think about it. Whether it's a stone thrown up from the road, the key scraping against your car door, or an out of control shopping trolley clipping your paintwork in the car park on a busy Saturday morning - and we've all been there - chips, bumps and minor scuffs are part and parcel of being a car owner.

Unsurprising then that recent research has confirmed that the majority of the 32 million cars in the UK are in need of attention to their paintwork and that most drivers would love to find a quick, cost-effective and convenient way of repairing their minor paint damage. After all, nobody wants the expense and inconvenience of booking their car into a body shop for small jobs. Industry experts also advise that keeping car paintwork up to scratch will extend the life of your vehicle and improve its value when you eventually look to sell.

"As the AA points out, it's a smart move, to get your car repaired if you have any form of minor damage to your paintwork," advises Guy Eastment, Penkridge. "Whether a scratch, scuff, chip or dent, a cosmetic repair will not only make sure your car looks good, but will seal the area of damage, making it weatherproof and prevent rust setting in.

If you leave it, the rust will eventually lead to corrosion which could ultimately result in a more extensive - and expensive - repair!"

This is exactly where Guy and ChipsAway can help. Using a unique waterborne system developed by ChipsAway Inc. in the USA, ChipsAway can offer a faster, more convenient way of repairing minor damage to automotive paintwork - and at a radically reduced cost.

Car owners no longer need to book vehicles into a body shop for days at a time to have whole panels treated simply to remove a small scratch or chip to their paintwork, Guy operates from a fully equipped vehicle - essentially, their mobile workshop - and takes their services directly to the customer, whether a member of the public or a business.

Today ChipsAway has over 300 UK operators, between them repairing some 300,000 vehicles per year.

Evacuees tell stories from the war years

They'll meet again – former Second World War evacuees Pat Law, Jean Davis, June Lum and Marion Williams

THEY were sent from their homes to the sanctuary of the countryside to shield their young eyes from witnessing the horror of the bombs.

Now Second World War evacuees have been telling their tales to film makers as part of a project to record their memories forever.

A selection of pensioners shared their memories of their trips at the St Matthews Centre in Walsall as part of the £40,000 Heritage Lottery funded 'Another Time Another Place' project.

It focuses on personal stories of evacuation from 1939-40, linking to the present day, and looks at the complex decisions facing families in times of war and civil disruption. An educational DVD will eventually be created for museums, libraries and schools.

Grandmother Marion Williams, from Pheasey, was just 10 when she was taken from her school in Birmingham by coach to Derby. She had only recently moved from Aston to Kingstanding but like the majority of other pupils in her class in 1939, she was an evacuee.

Lucky

She was taken in by a miner and his wife where she spent a year. She spent a year in Ripley too before returning home. She then spent another two years at a girl's boarding school for evacuees in Rugeley.

The 82-year-old said: "I was lucky, they were very good to me the miner and his wife. I was quite happy there but came home for a holiday after I had been there a year and never went back."

"It seemed exciting to a child, you were going on an adventure."

June Lum was sent from Birmingham to Malvern. The 80-year-old came back home for holidays where she got to see the impact of an air raid attack, aged 11.

The grandmother-of-two, who now lives in Pheasey, said: "I lived at Ladywood and during our holiday a paint factory close by was bombed."

In the case of 84-year-old Pat Law she was sent from Aston to Gloucester at the age of 10. The grandmother-of-14 from Great Barr said: "My dad told me it was going to be an adventure, I was going to go into the country."

"We were lined up against the wall and it was said 'no-one to move' and the people came and picked you out. They walked up and down examining you almost."

"I felt isolated although I was never treated badly," she added.

Chance to see £13m care home project

PEOPLE had the first glimpse this week at a new independent living complex being built in the heart of Penkridge.

A preview event was for people interested in living at the 82-apartment block Penric was held at Penkridge Peace Memorial Hall, Pinfold Lane, Penkridge.

The £13 million care home scheme is being built at Tildesley Close and is due to be completed by summer next year.

Work started in September.

Staff from Care Plus, which will manage the scheme, were at the event to give information and register people's interests in it. The scheme is mainly for people aged over 55 or younger people who need care and support.

Jackie Owen, care and support manager for Penric, said: "Penric will provide a new vibrant community at the heart of Penkridge."

"It is a perfect choice for people looking to live independently in their own spacious apartment with the reassurance of care and support from an on-site team of professionals."

It is being built on the site of the former Silverdene care home and it is hoped it will help tackle an expanding elderly population

Terrifying moment knifeman struck

The knife raider caught on CCTV as he demands money THIS is the terrifying moment a cashier was threatened by a man with a knife demanding money at a Burntwood shop.

Witnesses are being sought to help police find the culprit, who tried to steal money from the One Stop Store in Parkhill Road. The man, pictured here on CCTV, entered the shop armed with a blade and demanded money, but when cashiers refused to open the till, he tried to climb over the counter. Staff at the shop managed to stop him.

No-one was injured during the incident last November, and he left empty-handed. The man was wearing a black coat and scarf and put a grey hoodie over his head when he brandished the knife. He was wearing dark tracksuit bottoms and black and white Adidas trainers.

Anyone with any information is asked to contact Staffordshire Police on 101.

Tom really rocks as he returns to town

THERE is no doubt about it: Tom Stade is the real deal - a true comedian's comedian.

His foul-mouthed, sometimes edgy material is not for everyone, but the Canadian-born comic had Wolverhampton eating out of the palm of his hand when he performed at Wulfrun Hall on Saturday.

It is an audience he knows well, having lived in Bilston for three years.

His signature routine is about a man selling meat out of the back of a van in the town's market.

And never one to disappoint, the gravelly-voiced stand-up encored with the famous joke, with diehard fans shouting out the punchlines in between fits of laughter.

The rest of the act went down equally well. The hour-long show - titled Tom

Review

Stade Totally Rocks - covered everything from Groupon deals and addiction to indoor fruit trees and Romeo and Juliet.

Tom also proved his improvisational ability with lengthy back-and-forths with audience members.

Speaking after the show, Tom said he was still buzzing after what had been his "best gig ever".

"This was the big one," he said.

"It was totally amazing, the first time I've ever felt like such a massive star."

"It's going to take a while to come down from this."

Tom Stade Totally Rocks is next playing at the University of Warwick's Arts Centre, Coventry, on March 14.

CLUB NEWS

Death of longtime member

CHASE TERRACE
LADIES CLUB

OUR dear friend and long standing member, Val Millward, passed away early February. Condolences to her husband Tony and family. Any donations to Cancer Research.

At our talk on MAF we gave a £50 donation to the speaker and they made another £60 for their cause from sales on the evening.

We recently had a talk by Bert Flintock on Catching Happiness. He has written the book, Singing Puccini at the Kitchen Sink.

The poet is retired and has been writing and presenting poetry for about 10 years now as a hobby.

He said the title of his book reminded him of his father who used to sing while washing at the sink.

When Bert started to write and enjoy poetry he realised how happy it made him and reflecting on his childhood realised singing must have made his father happy.

The Lancashire poet read us some of his work, which was warm and witty. He showed us that by reading and re-reading poems we can start to understand their true meaning.

It takes him a couple of months to write a poem using his life experiences.

He visits festivals around the country and feels the first mistake many poets make is expecting the listener to get the full meaning of the views they are trying to get across on one quick reading.

Minute's silence in Molly's memory

PELSALL E

OUR February meeting commenced with a minute's silence in fond memory of long serving member Molly Waddell who died on the February 19

A letter from national chairman Pauline Myers was read out which said the total miles walked by all Guilds during September 2012 amounted to 3,565, enough to walk from John O'Groats to Land's End and back again twice, and raised £32,000 for the Princess Royal Trust for Carers.

Forthcoming trips and events were then discussed, including the Federation Dinner in March and our 50th birthday dinner at the Beverley Hotel in May.

Annual fees were collected and nominations for committee membership were sought in readiness for election at the annual general meeting on March 21.

The speaker was Jacqueline Smith, of Nova Chocolates, who gave a fascinating talk on the history of the cocoa bean and chocolate from its earliest beginnings, interspersed with samples of the modern white, milk and dark chocolate. The sales table was popular at the end of her talk with everyone keen to purchase items as gifts and treats.

The competition for the most popular pair of earrings was won by Ann Sale with a pair of silver and amethyst stud earrings and the monthly raffle was won by Dot Woolley. The walking group still meets each Wednesday at 10am outside Pelsall Community Centre, but undertaking shorter walks whilst patiently waiting for better weather.

Pelsall Guild meets on the third Thursday of each month at 7.45 pm. at Pelsall Community Centre, Station Road, Pelsall, where a warm welcome is extended to visitors and members. For further information, contact Val Walker on 01922 684724, or Margaret Worrall on 01922 682466.

Happy birthday Helen, 102

PRESIDENT Margaret Porter opened the meeting extending a warm welcome to five visitors.

It was our turn to arrange and be hostess at the Rose and Shamrock WI meeting to be held at The Church of The Holy Spirit, Etching Hill, on March 21. We are expecting an interesting talk from Sue Riches about her journey to the North Pole.

Giving best wishes to the members with a birthday in

ETCHING HILL WI

February special mention was made to one of our founder members Helen Dawson, who was 102 on 26th, and received a basket of flowers from members.

At the March meeting cakes or biscuits will be collected to donate towards the patients at St Giles Hospice.

The speaker was Maggie Causar, who is also a member of group, began her talk The Day My Life

Changed. In August 2006 she severed her spinal cord in a cycle accident in France on her bicycle. She is now confined to a wheelchair following months of rehabilitation in France and Oswestry.

Through her great courage, tenacity, and love of life, she has not only adapted to her change of life but is now a mentor for people in similar circumstances.

She left us with the words "Yesterday is History. Tomorrow is a Mystery".

Fuel poverty drive stepped up

ENERGY efficiency bosses at South Staffordshire Council have stepped up their campaign to tackle fuel poverty and make sure older people living in the district stay warm in their homes.

The council has just launched its Warm Homes and Healthy People campaign in a bid to make sure older and vulnerable people have access to the advice, support and funding they need to keep them warm and healthy during winter.

Nearly 20 per cent of people in South

Staffordshire are classed as living in fuel poverty.

Councillor Brian Edwards, leader of South Staffordshire Council said: "Keeping people warm and healthy this winter, especially older people, is really important."

"There are far too many people living in fuel poverty still, which is why this campaign is so important."

"There is help out there and some of it people can potentially get for free."

Six men accused of aiding escape appear in court

SIX men have been remanded in custody charged in relation with helping Black Country murder suspect John Anslow escape from a prison van. They appeared before Birmingham Magistrates Court accused of conspiracy to assist in his escape.

Anslow, aged 32, of Tipton, was sprung from a prison van in January last year while he was being taken to a court hearing and has not been seen since.

He is wanted in connection with the murder of Staffordshire businessman Richard Deakin, who was shot in bed in his Meadway Street home in Chasetown on July 5, 2010.

Two of the defendants who appeared in court last week, Brett Anslow, aged 28, of Four Winds Road, Dudley, and Ryan Powell, aged 20, of Acorn Grove, Birmingham, made applications for bail pending further court hearings.

However, the application was denied by District Judge Sham Qureshi.

Also appearing before the judge last week were Paul Cadby, aged 47, of no fixed address and Moysha Shepherd, aged 23, of Hamstead Road, Handsworth.

Released

Also charged in connection with the case are Luke Hazel, aged 25, of Old Smithy Place, Hockley, and Robert Riddell, aged 41, of Flamborough Close, Shard.

All of the men were remanded in custody to appear before Birmingham Crown Court on March 15.

A seventh man arrested in connection with the matter has not been charged and has been released on police bail.

Anslow was on route from HMP Hewell, in Redditch, to Stafford Crown Court when he was sprung from the prison van.

Last month Staffordshire Police issued an anniversary appeal for information about Anslow's whereabouts, saying they were

John Anslow - still has not been found keeping an open mind about whether he had left the country.

They have taken more than 100 calls offering information about where he may be hiding.

Phantom to haunt theatre with his music of the night

THE PHANTOM of the Opera arrives at Birmingham Hippodrome on Wednesday for an eight-week season, the final venue on the much-loved show's 25th anniversary tour.

Cameron Mackintosh's spectacular touring version marks a quarter century since Andrew Lloyd-Webber's blockbuster musical first opened in London's theatreland, where it still runs at Her Majesty's Theatre.

One of the most popular West End phantoms, Earl Carpenter, will don the mask as the eerie figure who controls the career of soprano Christine, played by Katie Hall, from behind the scenes... and murdering anyone at the Paris Opera who gets in the way of his ambitions for her.

Earl Carpenter is to portray The Phantom of the Opera Picture by Alistair Muir

The musical is known for its stunning set-pieces, including the Masquerade costume ball, the Phantom's subterranean lair and a certain something involving a chandelier.

Angel

The songs have become some of the most popular in musical theatre, including The Music of the Night, Think of Me and All I Ask Of You.

Tickets to see the Phantom's doomed love affair with his 'Angel of Music' have been in such demand that the Hippodrome has put on extra matinee performances.

For the latest news on tickets see the theatre's website or call 0844 338 5000.

Again, again, never again for Quo

Still rockin' - Rick Parfitt and Francis Rossi of Status Quo seen in action last year

THE Status Quo gigs at Wolverhampton Civic Hall tonight (Thursday) and on March 13 mark the only opportunities to catch the return of the original line-up.

Quo guitar stalwarts Francis Rossi and Rick Parfitt will be joined by Alan Lancaster and John Coghlan for a one-off set of reunion dates. These include two gigs at Wolverhampton after the March 13 concert sold out in minutes, prompting tonight's extra date.

History

Status Quo manager Simon Porter said: "This is a real moment in the chequered history of Status Quo and it comes after 30 years of acrimony and ten years of law suits and court battles. Just two years ago the thought of the Frantic Four performing again was unthinkable. Now, 50 years on from when Francis and Alan first performed together as school-boys, it is fitting that everything has come full circle."

Tonight's gig at the Civic is also set to sell out the venue.

Melanie show line-up finalised

SINGING for Their Supper, the show organised by Melanie's Fund to raise money for NSPCC and Save the Children, has announced its final line-up of more than 80 performers aged from eight to 18.

The show at The Prince of Wales Theatre, Cannock, on March 19 includes Thomas More Primary School, performing songs from its production of Oliver, and Chase High School's Pop Choir. Soloist Sam Hilditch, a pupil at Chase High, will also be performing and youth theatre groups, Theatre First and Ambient Night Productions will be there.

Luke Groves, Victoria Tew and Grace Wyatt, finalists from last year's Follow That Dream, complete the line-up. Call 01543 578762 for tickets.

Stan's the man for history talk

STAN Williams will be presenting his memories of growing up in the 40s and 50s on Walsall Road, Bridgton, including recovering from tuberculosis in Groundsdown Sanatorium, to Bridgton and District Local History Society on March 13.

It is at 10am at Bridgton Community Centre. All are welcome.

The Jonathan Ross Show

ITV, 9.20pm
In 1978, Grease became one of the best-loved musicals of all time; it spawned three number ones for Olivia Newton-John, and helped breathe new life into her career. Despite subsequent film vehicles Xanadu, and Two of a Kind failing to recapture the same magic, her 1981 album Physical became a soundtrack for the "Jane Fonda Workout" generation. Recently a new wave of fans have become devoted to her, thanks to appearances on Glee and the ongoing appeal of Grease. This week, Olivia drops into the studio to plug her UK tour.

Dentures with a difference – a plateless top denture with Ultra Suction

The Ultra Suction system is available for both top and lower dentures

The Ultra Suction system is available for both new prescriptions and relined dentures

Transformations

Suction another solution

Making the transformation and providing a cost-effective solution for upper and lower denture stability, the Ultra Suction prosthetics use a clever diaphragm system to help provide wearers with greater dental security

A CUTTING-EDGE development to help resolve the stability problems faced by thousands of denture wearers is being offered by the Denture Clinic. Denturist Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng), who heads the teams at his North Street practice in Dudley and other clinics in Wolverhampton and Bearwood, says the invention has the potential to resolve issues with the poor stabilisation of dentures.

Prosthetics are held in place by tiny valve-operated suction devices which are built into the prescription. A clever diaphragms principle, triggered by the bite pressure on patients' gums, creates a 'sucking' vacuum between the soft-tissue mouth lining and the prosthetic.

Mr Burchell, whose clinics attracts patients from as far as Spain, the Isle of Skye and the Isle of Anglesey, adds: "The den-ture revolution is evolving at a pace. In recent times we have seen what I can describe only as strident steps forward with implant-retained dentures coming into main-stream dentistry, clever technology which allows excellent fitting outcomes and now the Ultra Suction product.

"Implant dentistry is not suitable for everyone, neither is it all patients' first preference."

'Toolbox'

"The beauty of this technology is that it can offer for the right patient excellent denture retainer qualities without the complex clinical procedures required for implant work."

"We have always endeavoured to be on the very cusp of clinical development and this is another tool in our commitment to always try to deliver results which are greater than patient expectations."

Historically, lower dentures can present stability problems as the jaw bone erodes with age. With traditional dentures this can cause lower teeth to move and create painful friction problems on gums.

Mr Burchell adds: "The device can be mounted on upper or lower palates and because of its efficiency allows us to consider a reduction in the size of the acrylic 'plate' which can result in improved speech and taste."

"The Ultra Suction kit increases the options in our clinical 'toolbox' and can provide affordable solutions to many patients who would not wish to pursue the stability resolve with implants."

"I remain passionate about the transformations good prosthetics can achieve."

Typically, patients will be encouraged to contribute their views to treatment plans and generally be assigned more than three-and-a-half clinical hours in achieving the best possible outcome.

Betty is free from pain after having implants

A WOMAN who had suffered years of pain with two jaw conditions has finally found relief after undergoing dental implant surgery.

Betty had worn dentures for many years but developed neuralgia and her trigeminal nerve had become inflamed.

"I had terrible jaw pain and suffered pins and needles in the side of my head and tongue. It's a terrible condition. I'd had an MRI scan and had seen a specialist, but was still without relief," she says.

Clinical dental technician Mr Burchell had made dentures for Betty seven years ago and she returned to his clinic to inquire about a new prescription because the lower denture had lost its stability.

"I had put up with the floating effect of my lower denture and needed to address the problem. My lower gum had receded so much my denture was pressing down on a nerve and causing me pain," she adds.

"Steven explained the benefits of implant-retained dentures and told me it would allow my bite to be opened some more. Since having the implants on my lower denture, I have experienced no more pain."

Mr Burchell said all dentures have a shelf life and Betty's denture problem was due to shrinkage of her gums – a naturally occurring ageing process.

"We hoped for an improved outcome on her condition, but never dreamed that the final clinical result could be so rewarding with Betty being free from pain," he adds.

Pick of the Week

Jimmy takes a shot in the dark on his new case

Influenced by both mainland Scotland and Scandinavia, the Shetland Islands is a location like no other. For award-winning writer Anne Cleeves, the uniqueness and sense of place made it an ideal setting for her novel Red Bones, a traditional British crime drama with a unique twist.

Cleeves' work has been adapted into the two-part drama Shetland being shown on consecutive nights, with Douglas Henshall assuming the role of Detective Jimmy Perez, a native Shetlander and widower who has decided to return home with his step-daughter so she can be near her biological father.

Needless to say, it's not too long before his professional skills are called upon when a young archaeologist discovers a set of human remains that could be more recent than may be considered appropriate.

Henshall's Scottish accent is, of course, entirely genuine, though he was born in urban Glasgow rather than the rural splendours of Shetland: "I always thought of Shetland as being a place that was so remote it was always in a wee box during the weather. Sometimes I wonder if people really know where it is or what it's like, what the people are like and what goes on there."

A veteran of such TV dramas as Lipstick on Your Collar, Psychos and Primeval, Henshall is keen to dismiss notions that Perez fits into the same stereotype as so many other sleuths juggling their work with domestic obligations: "He's not one of those haunted types with lots of problems, he's actually a straightforward man who would just like a quiet life."

Adaptor David Kane is full of praise for the drama's leading man: "Douglas makes a wonderful Perez, and gives the performance of his career."

Kane faced the unenviable task of taking someone else's work and transferring it in a way that pleases all concerned, but it's a craft he has honed over the years. "The biggest consideration when adapting a novel for TV is to get the essence of the story the writer wanted to get across even if you have to change certain parts of the plot." Some of the alterations can be quite radical, even to the point of supplementing the characters, which he did here by creating DC Alison Macintosh. "I created Tosh to work with Perez, in the hope the warmth of their relationship would counterbalance the darkness of the story," he adds.

Writer Cleeves admits it's a little unnerving seeing her written work played out before her eyes: "Occasionally the dialogue is taken almost exactly from the book and that's a bit spooky, as if my characters have come to life. Usually though, although the adaptation captures the spirit of the original, it's quite a different form. I can watch it and enjoy it as any other viewer would."

The hope is that a warm reception to Shetland will lead to a further commission. After all, Cleeves has written a quartet of tales set on the islands.

And anyone thinking the Shetland region is low on population and therefore has limited potential for serious crime has clearly learned nothing from the likes of Bergerac and Midsomer Murders. There are some strange folk living in wild and lonely places...

MONDAY

A History of Syria with Dan Snow, BBC2, 9pm

This new one-off documentary sees the broadcaster travel to the Middle East on a journey to explore the fascinating and tumultuous history that lies behind the civil war now raging in Syria. He explains how the country has a tumultuous past, and the impact that has on today's conflict – as what started as peaceful protests against President Bashar al-Assad's totalitarian regime have turned increasingly into a struggle along sectarian lines involving global and regional powers. He visits Roman temples, the centre of the world's greatest Islamic empire, crusader castles and today's battlegrounds in a bid to piece together the complex history of a strategically important region at the heart of the Middle East.

Embarassing Bodies, Channel 4, 9pm

There's a lot to be said for the docs at the heart of this programme. Ptolemy, Christian and Dawn are bigger people than us – after all, we can briefly turn our heads away from the telly if we don't like the look of something – they have to persevere. This week, they're propping up their portable clinic at the Bristol Balloon Fiesta. Meanwhile, Dr Dawn meets a new mum with a painful post-pregnancy problem.

TUESDAY

Live UEFA Champions League, ITV, 7.30pm

There have been suggestions recently that Barcelona are not the team they used to be. Their two-legged Copa Del Rey defeat at the hands of arch-rivals Real Madrid a fortnight ago was preceded by a 2-0 away defeat at the hands of Italian giants AC Milan in the first half of their UEFA Champions League last-16 tie. So have Lionel Messi, Andres Iniesta, Xavi and co lost their mojo since former manager Pep Guardiola departed last year? Don't count on it. Milan should certainly beware of this wounded animal when they meet again because Barca will be going all out for goals at the Nou Camp.

Whale Adventure with Nigel Marven, Channel 5, 8pm

As the song says, some guys have all the luck. Take Nigel Marven, for instance. He has none of the drudgery of a nine-to-five office job. Instead, he's out and about, taking trips to far-flung places in search of amazing animal stories. His latest sees him journeying along the Pacific coast of North America from Mexico to Alaska. He's on the trail of a grey whale mother and her newborn calf as they abandon their summer feeding grounds before heading for the icy seas of the Arctic. Nigel's epic journey begins in Baja's San Ignacio lagoon, where the calf is born and learns some much-needed swimming skills.

WEDNESDAY, EastEnders, BBC1, 8pm

Poor Bianca – if she's guilty of anything, it's being too trusting in her son, Liam. Following her shocking discovery of Tamwar's money belt in his room last night, her world has come crashing down around her – yet still she refuses to believe that the lad could have had anything to do with Tamwar's mugging. Her faith could be her undoing, however, when the police come calling asking to speak with Liam about his whereabouts at the time of the assault. Bianca's not the only worried mum in Walford, as Abi discovers when she sneaks home in the middle of the night to find Tanya has been waiting up for her. A blazing row soon erupts, as the teen's activities come to light.

The Mimic, Channel 4, 10pm

You have to admire Terry Mynott: he's managed to find a platform that showcases his passion for both impersonations and acting – in this new sitcom, Mynott stars as Martin Hurdle, a maintenance man who's got an uncanny ability to mimic voices. There's not a right lot to be said about Martin's life – he's been stuck in the same dead end job for over seven years and not much remarkable ever happens to him. Until now, as it emerges that he could be the father of 18-year-old Steven. Jacob Anderson, Jo Hartley co-stars.

A History of Syria with Dan Snow, Monday, BBC2, 9pm

THURSDAY

Born to Be Different, Channel 4, 9pm

Ask any little person about the troubles that come hand in hand with growing up and they will reel off all manner of woes such as the fact that they didn't get the monster truck they wanted for their birthday, or that so-and-so at school keeps telling the teacher on them. But for the six youngsters in this film, their issues run much deeper. This award-winning documentary series has followed a group of children each born with a disability, and has offered intricate insights into what it's like to grow up with a disability as they face important transitions in their lives; this time, they're moving from primary to secondary school. Stories include that of Hamish, who was born with achondroplasia (commonly known as 'dwarfism').

FRIDAY, Comic Relief – Funny for Money, BBC1, 7pm

Now in its 25th year, the biennial Red Nose Day is back, and the likes of Lenny Henry, Dermot O'Leary and Claudia Winkleman are on hand to raise cash to help thousands in Africa and the UK. Rowan Atkinson hopes to tickle a few ribs as the new Archbishop of Canterbury, and Jessie J will have her head shaved in the studio. Global superstars One Direction belt out their Comic Relief single; Miranda Hart appears in a light-hearted take on Call the Midwife, while Miss Piggy also makes an appearance... and that's just in the first hour. So turn on, laugh loud, dig deep and save lives.

Hot hatch with high performance

IMPRESSIVE performance numbers and an attractive price are two important attributes of Seat's latest Ibiza hot hatch.

The telltale sign is the Spanish car maker's use of its trademark Cupra branding, something fans of Seat's GTI-baiting cars recognise as heralding the arrival of the firm's flagship hot supermini.

Value for money is one thing but looks can make or break a car.

Seat has cleverly chosen to give the Ibiza a relatively low-key Cupra makeover, with the regular car's already distinctive sharp lines and squat stance doing most of the work.

Plus the Cupra's low ride height, bespoke bumpers, black mirror housings, central tailpipe and LED running lights give you a classy-looking hatch that's neither brash nor a wallflower.

Seat might be keen to promote its Spanish roots but the upside of being part of the mighty Volkswagen Group is the ability to make full use of its extensive parts inventory. Every so often you'll find a few gems in the parts bin, and helping the Ibiza Cupra to achieve its segment-busting performance figures is the Volkswagen Group's hi-tech 180 horsepower, 1.4-litre turbo and supercharged petrol engine.

The engine's trick is to combine the measured low-down response of the supercharger with the turbo's more immediate response at the upper end of the performance scale.

Owners of Skoda's second-generation Fabia vRS hot hatch will be familiar with this experience given that the car shares the same engine with the Ibiza.

Reinforcing

As such, the Ibiza's 184lb/ft torque figure is accessible from a lowly 2,000rpm. And it's a contributing factor to the car's brisk 6.9 second 0-62mph sprint time.

Reinforcing the benefits of cross-company parts sharing, the Ibiza also boasts the same seven-speed DSG gearbox as the Fabia.

The upshot is a transmission adept at responding swiftly to driver inputs. Left alone, it'll quickly and smoothly shift up to a high ratio in a bid to maximise fuel economy and refinement.

However, when you want to press on, downshifts are quick and taking manual control via the steering wheel paddles allows you to better match your speed to a gear of your choosing. Considerable effort has been made by Seat's engineers to tune the Ibiza Cupra for a variety of road conditions, and it's clear that the car's noticeably pliant ride is a welcome step forward over the old model.

That said, pitch and roll has been kept in check, allowing you to attack corners with considerable enthusiasm, and with the result that your confidence remains high and you never feel tired or bruised after a session behind the wheel. Of course, the Ibiza's sports front seats can also take some of the credit.

An important factor in the Ibiza's behaviour is its steering, which delivers a good balance of weight, accuracy and assistance. Coupled with an array of trick traction and stability systems - including a clever electronic differential control - you can push the car hard, safe in the knowledge that it's working with and not against you.

Seat knows that the ownership experience is about more than just the driving, which is why the Ibiza Cupra comes with a generous level of standard kit.

Granted, you'd expect the car to possess good brakes, and the standard stoppers do the job nicely.

The optional larger diameter AP-branded items should improve matters if you're partial to track days and routinely enjoy driving the car enthusiastically on the road. But it's the non-performance bits that should also impress and, crucially, help sweeten the ownership experience when you're grinding your way through town on a Monday morning.

Bi-xenon headlights plus LED daytime running lights, climate control and rain-sensing wipers are joined by a bespoke multimedia system offering navigation, a Bluetooth phone connection plus audio streaming, voice control and a comprehensive trip computer. It's clear, then, that the Ibiza Cupra is easily more than just the sum of its Volkswagen Group parts.

The car's handsome exterior gives little away as to its real-world performance potential.

Once behind the wheel, however, its compliant ride, responsive DSG gearbox and flexible petrol motor combine to deliver a rounded experience that belies the car's 180-on-paper horsepower rating.

Fun, engaging and refined in equal measure, Seat's generosity with a long list of standard kit is the icing on the cake.

Kia reveals specification and prices for its new hatchback

KIA has revealed the full specifications and prices for the new Pro Cee'd three-door hatchback.

Available in two unique trim levels called S and SE, the Pro Cee'd also has two engine options.

Both 1.6 litres in size, the 133bhp GDI petrol is £1,100 cheaper than the 126bhp CRDi diesel but the latter achieves CO2 emissions of 100g/km and qualifies for free road tax and congestion charge exemption. A dual-clutch automatic gearbox is available, but only on the petrol engine. Performance changes for S and SE models though, despite sharing engines.

Panels

First, second and sixth gears are different, making the petrol SE 0.3 seconds faster to 60mph and the diesel SE a full second quicker than the diesel S in the same scenario.

The roof, the side panels - including the 27cm longer doors and the whole rear end - have been redesigned from the five-door Cee'd template.

Overall, the car is 40mm lower than its more practical cousin, and looks more aggressive with it.

It does, however, maintain a 380-litre boot.

Prices start at £17,495 for the petrol S model. The diesel S is £18,595 and SE trim adds £2,000.

The automatic gearbox is only offered on the petrol SE, which then costs £20,795.

Dealership in the spirit of Red Nose Day

LOCAL Kia dealer Brindley will be 'Doing Something Funny for Money' to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Red Nose Day as the dealership prepares to support this year's campaign.

As one of 130 participating Kia dealers across the country, Brindley Kia is looking to raise funds for the charity as well as providing Wolverhampton residents with the opportunity to contribute to this Red Nose Day on Friday, March 15. Joining the likes of Red Nose Day's big 'Fun Raisers' including Jessie J, Lenny Henry and Keith Lemon, Brindley Kia will be encouraging drivers to keep their noses clean and see what their 'nose' about Kia from March 4 until March 15 with the aim to raise £1,200.

Jim Elkes, dealer principal at Brindley Kia said: "Our fundraising extravaganza for Red Nose Day aims to get the residents of Wolverhampton involved and tap into their charitable side for this very worthy cause. As a supporting partner of Red Nose Day, we're inviting people to have a nose around Kia as we aim to raise a minimum £1,200 for Comic Relief, as well as having a lot of fun."

Sweepstake

Red Nose Day is all about driving positive change through entertainment, and as a Supporting Partner of Red Nose Day 2013, Brindley Kia will be embracing this mission by offering local motorists the opportunity to donate to charity as well as giving their car a bit of attention with the offer of a £10 car wash at the Kia dealership, with all proceeds going to Comic Relief.

Motorists should look out for the "what do you nose about Kia" sweepstake competition where people in Brindley Kia's showroom can donate £5 to be in with a chance to win £50.

With a range starting from only (£7,795), zero per cent finance options available; and every model backed by Kia's outstanding and industry-leading 7-year / 100,000-mile fully transferable warranty, Brindley Kia will have you laughing all the way to the bank.

Lucky 13 for Julie as VIP customer picks up hamper at new-car event

THE number thirteen is often associated with omens, superstitions and bad luck, but at Brindley Vauxhall Cannock this couldn't be further from the truth.

With the turn of the new year comes a new number plate, and with the new number plate comes a new collection of Vauxhall's.

Earlier this month Vauxhall Cannock held its annual invitation-only, VIP event. This three-day promotional was designed to celebrate its extensive new 13 plate range, featuring VXR Astra's, Corsa's and the new Vauxhall Mokka

Not only were all VIP customers treated like superstars, they were also entered into a competition for a chance to win a luxury prize and the lucky person was Julie Cliffordm from Hednesford.

She won a wonderful champagne hamper supplied by All The Best Hampers, which made driving away in her new 13 plate Corsa even sweeter.

Boasted

The VIP event kicked off March in style, with the 13 plate celebration welcoming a host of new Vauxhall cars to the dealership such as the nifty Vauxhall Adam and the roaring Vauxhall Mokka.

Both cars are sure to be a hit, and with super competitive prices and fantastic reviews, 2013 is looking like a good year for Vauxhall.

As well as new cars, the dealership boasted a range of impressive prices on a host of used Network Q cars, prices which can be found throughout the whole of March.

Brindley Vauxhall Cannock is part of one of the largest private owner dealer groups in the Midlands and with more than 40 years of Vauxhall experience, you are sure to be getting the best deals, the best quality and the highest level of customer service possible.

With these massive savings and exceptional deals on both new and used cars, March 2013 is shaping up to be a lucky time to visit Brindley Vauxhall Cannock.

Styling changes have refreshed the Fiesta's visual appeal

The new Fiesta now offers features like the innovative My Key

By Iain Dooley

CONTRARY to the old saying, growing up appears to be anything but a hard thing to do in the car business.

This trend is most obvious in the supermini sector, where once small, feature-poor cars have been transformed into mature and capable all-rounders. Of all the usual suspects to have experienced this transformation, Ford's Fiesta has surfaced with its engaging driving dynamics and sharp looks intact. This latest generation small Ford was fortunate to have been engineered correctly the first time. Blessed with sophisticated ride qualities and a cabin designed and built to emulate the high-class ambience of the Focus and Mondeo, it had a clear advantage from birth.

Come refresh time and Ford's designers clearly took the plunge and went with the bold option, as the revised car sports a wide, dominant grille that mirrors some of its maker's more glamorous North American offerings.

Inside, the Fiesta's cabin remains largely as before but the changes to the centre console are likely to generate some headlines.

An in-bid to continually drive down emissions and fuel consumption, small capacity three-cylinder petrol engines are starting to gain traction in the marketplace. Ford's decision to install its first effort in the larger Focus resulted in heaps of critical acclaim and proof that the 'small engine-big car' combination works without any significant compromises. That engine has finally found its way into the Fiesta. Predictably the 125 horsepower unit delivers a useful slug of power and proves refined at speed.

More interesting is the 100 horsepower version. The obvious question is whether sacrificing 25 horsepower in the name of economy and asking price results in a poorer driving and ownership experience.

The simple answer is no. For all the Fiesta's upmarket cabin ambience and big-car equipment, it remains an obvious choice for urban motoring with the occasional longer run thrown in for good measure.

Well-judged

In five-speed manual gearbox trim, this Fiesta boasts a well-judged set of ratios to deal with all types of urban motoring. The Fiesta changes direction with ease, the fast-acting turbo motor ensures a quick response at the urban traffic light Grand Prix, while the on-paper economy and emissions figures (99g/km CO₂ and 65.7mpg) should please your bank manager, if not the tax man too.

For keen drivers, Ford's ability to make a good car better should be applauded, but the revised Fiesta's also been updated to please buyers seeking a rewarding ownership experience.

Safety kit from the Focus has trickled down to the Fiesta, with Ford's low-speed auto-brake function helping drivers react quicker to, say, a pedestrian or car pulling out in front or stopping suddenly.

Creature comforts that you'd find on larger cars – parking sensors, heated mirrors – are also available depending on the trim level.

An improved multimedia package is also offered, which boasts a tighter integration with your mobile phone and a more intuitive user interface. Dubbed 'Sync', it was first rolled out on Ford's American market cars and is now appearing on European models.

Adding to its appeal is an SOS function, which is activated after an accident and alerts the local authorities. If that doesn't grab you, then, as a parent, Ford's MyKey innovation offers parents and other concerned owners some control over how someone uses the car. For example, if you want to minimise distractions while driving, you can preset an audio volume limit.

To ensure your little darling doesn't accidentally run out of fuel, it's possible to increase the threshold before the low-fuel warning kicks in, and you can also set a speed limit to keep enthusiastic driving at bay.

And that's what is so good about this revised Fiesta: the cosmetic enhancements have allowed the car to regain ground lost to more recent, youthful-looking rivals and the inclusion of the trick creature comforts should boost its appeal among feature-hungry buyers.

Bid to meet tennis elite

A CANNOCK teenager is in with a chance of rubbing shoulders with the world's tennis elite.
Sixteen-year-old Samuel Nutting, from Kingsmead High School, has reached the national finals of the search for 30 'ball kids' for the Barclays ATP World Tour Finals to be staged at The O2 in London in November.
Nutting was one of the top four to emerge from a regional trial at West Bromwich where nearly 100 youngsters tried their luck.
The national selection trial is being held on April 13 and will see a 30-strong squad selected for the tournament.

Bragging rights go to Hawkins in cup

SECOND DIVISION Hawkins Inex are through to the quarter-finals of the All In One Cup taking local bragging rights with a 4-1 beating of Cheslyn Hay Athletic.
Two goals each for Lee Boswell and Craig Hughes put them against Yates Sports or Belt Road.
Brereton Town Cup quarter-final
Premier League Belt Road fought back from two goals down to knock out First Division Short Heath 4-3. A Tom Preece penalty, an own goal, one from Stuart Bradford and a last-minute winner from Chris Deakin now put the three-times winners up against

Cannock Chase League

Ridware Oak or Magic Lantern in the semi-finals.
Premier Cup quarter-finals
Ridware Oak, searching for their first Premier Cup success, knocked out St Matthews 3-2. Morgan Hurley's two goals and one from Martin Pitch gave them a 3-0 half-time lead. They now face Magic Lantern.
Yates Sports knocked out Red White & Blue 5-0 to face Belt Road in the last four. Adam Sanger, Luke Holmes, John Longstone scored with two goals from Steve Jones.

Premier League
Magic Lantern dropped their first points of the season, drawing 1-1 with Rugeley but still lead by a point. Brereton Town and Brereton Social battled out a 2-2 draw.
Division One
The Littleton dropped their first points of the season in losing 1-0 to AFC Jubilee. Ryan Timmings' second-half goal won the game for them.
Premier Suite went top after beating Chase Spartans 6-0. Jordan Holmes scored a hat-trick.

Division Two
Leaders CK Academy went six points clear by beating bottom team Colliers Arms 8-0. Dan Lomas got a hat-trick and Ben Farrell scored twice.
Second half goals from Alex Dailey and Josh Howells helped Lea Hall to a 2-0 win over Broomhill Albion. The Bridge went second by beating Ascot 6-0. Harrisons, still with 13 league games to play, beat Victoria 3-0.
Division Three Cup quarter-finals
Two goals each for Greg Allen and Shaun Talbot helped Freemans to knock out Crystal Fountain 4-3. Freemans now meet Hawkins Sports in the semi-finals after they knocked out Cannock & Rugeley 2-0 with second-half goals from Stu Bott and Dan Brown.

Leaders Trafalgar knocked out second-placed Royal Exchange. They trailed 1-0 but Ben Burdett equalised with a 25-yard screamer followed by Dayne Boguslawski's winner with 10 minutes to go. They play Winding Wheel or Railway.
Division Four
Unbeaten leaders Green Heath got a 3-2 win over Castle. Ben Pugh got two with one from Soul Stocking. Second-placed Hazel Slide beat Wyreley Juniors 2-1.

Rugeley sparkle in the sun to clinch win

Rugeley 19 Warley 10
RUGELEY seconds enjoyed the sunshine, beating their counterparts from Warley.
A 25th-minute Matty Keys penalty opened the scoring for the home side.
They continued to shine and Jack Richards was given an uncontested run to the line in the 40th minute to make the score 8-0 at half-time.

Warley began the second period with more passion, but the home side's large pack and formidable forward play kept their rivals at arms' length.
However, Warley's constant pressure eventually brought the visitors a try in the left corner with 22 minutes on the clock.
Rugeley hit back with impressive forward play by hooker Eddie Rodgers, and prop forward Sam Spink gave them a penalty eased over by Keys.
The home side forced another penalty which Keys booted for a score of 14-5.
Warley sprang to life and scored another try to make it 14-10 in the final minutes.
But with only seconds remaining, Rugeley fly-half Dave Bagmall ran virtually the full length of the left wing before passing inside for Stubbs to score his first try for Rugeley seconds, and clinch victory.

Revenge hopes hit by late try

Handsworth 24 Burntwood 22
A LAST-MINUTE try robbed Burntwood of a Midlands Three West (North) revenge win against a team which beat them 31-10 in November.
In a game of fluctuating fortunes, the lead changed hands five times. The visitors dominated in the forwards, but the home team's potent backs scored three of their side's four tries.
The visitors paid the price for a slow start, conceding 12 points in the opening 14 minutes. But they responded superbly to lead 16-12 at the break, beginning the fightback.
On Saturday, Burntwood began a run of three home league games with the visit of Wednesday (3pm). The seconds' opponents have yet to be announced and the development squad visit Handsworth thirds.

Jackson strike keeps Cannock hopes alive

Cannock 3 Southgate 2
WITH just a few points covering several of the top sides in the National Hockey League, victory for Cannock was vital.

The visitors shot out of the blocks to put Cannock under early pressure before the home team responded and Dave Harris put a chance over the bar from a few metres out.
Southgate went straight down to the Cannock end and scored before doubling the advantage from a penalty corner, won after a retake in which Marc Edwards was hit on the head.

Ten minutes later, Edwards got his revenge when his strike found the back of the net.
All the play and pressure now came from Cannock, resulting in a Nick Bandurak equaliser on a reverse-stick strike.

Half-time broke Cannock's flow and in the second half they gifted too many easy turnovers. But five minutes from time, they bagged the winner. Peter Jackson converted a penalty corner strike low to the Southgate keeper's right for a vital win.

Cannock 5 Beeston 1
The seconds continued their domination of the Energy v Midlands Premier League with a win over Beeston. Cannock missed chances before finally taking the lead through new-boy Matt Plunkett, rounding off a fine team move instigated from his own D by Will Fleet.
Cannock took control with a hockey master class from Josh Gunnell as Mandeep Sandhar extended his tally and moved closer to the gaining the league's golden stick award.
Dan Beck was brought down by the opposition keeper, winning a penalty flick which was taken by Matt Plunkett and saved.

Cannock Hockey Club

Cannock's victory extended their lead and 100 per cent record.

Birmingham University 0 Cannock 6

The thirds delivered their first title win in over four seasons with a comfortable victory against a struggling student side.
Captain Bloomer opened the scoring and Watkins deflected in a short corner flick from Parker for the second. It was Parker, in a new left-half role, who added a tidy reverse-stick third at half-time the game.
The second half goal tally was the same as the first, Martin, Darney and Parker finding the net.

Cannock 2 Edgbaston 3

The fourths, already crowned Midlands Premier champions, didn't really produce their normal game until the last 10 minutes – and then it was too late.
Cannock based their success on getting the basics right, working as a unit with moments of quality and flair. But here the passing was slow and inaccurate, marking lax, chances squandered and the performance lacked cohesion.

Edgbaston led 2-0 and although Lewis Round clawed one back before half-time with a sweet half-volley, Edgbaston got their third goal in the second half.
Dave Wigg produced a clinical finish late on but, despite a penalty corner in the last seconds, Cannock could not produce an equaliser.

Cannock 4 Barford Tigers 0

The fifths came out comfortable winners with goals from Darren Pugh, Jamie Roberts and two from Richard Artist.

Cannock 9 Sutton Coldfield 0

The sixths sealed promotion with four matches remaining, the floodgates opening after Tim Butler scored the first goal.
Cannock Futures 5 Streetly 1
Two goals each from Alex Kingston and Rob Davies plus one by Jamie Greenwood reflected Cannock's dominance.

Mandeep Sandhar gets the third goal for Cannock seconds, who beat old rivals Beeston

Junior football

Sportsco U9 1
Rugeley Rangers Lions U9 4
RUGELEY moved into second place in the division after winning a match between two in-form teams. Two goals apiece from Jake Poole and player-of-the-match Billy Mackenzie did the damage, while Sportsco were restricted to a late consolation goal thanks to rock-steady defending by Will Burns and fine goalkeeping by Dan Walton.

Rugeley Rangers Lions U12 2
Norton Canes U12 1
The Lions came back from a goal down to win with every team member giving his all. Two excellent goals from Jake Webb and player-of-the-match Michael Hanna turned it round.

Lakeside U9 6
Cannock Town Juniors U9 0
In an uneven game, Lakeside took a convincing victory to progress into the semi-finals of the Mid-Staffordshire Shield.

Jensen Depascalis scored twice while Sam Knapton, Jake Cartwright, Kian Gilmour and player-of-the-match Reiss Walters were also on the scoresheet.

Lakeside U9 2
Stafford Rangers Juniors U9 1
This was the stereotypical game of two halves, with Stafford impressing in the first period and taking an early lead.

Lakeside shuffled the pack in the second period and emerged winners with Walters equalising.

The lively Depascalis, maintaining a rich vein of form, got the winner after a fine team move to leave his side 12 points clear at the top of the Mid-Staffordshire Premier League.

Wryley Juniors Utd U12 7
Sportsco Saints U12 1
Seven-goal Tom Wheelodon fired United to a Lichfield League Division Two double over Sportsco.

He grabbed five in the first half, finishing confidently as he was fed a succession of through balls by Zak Hallett, Tom Peacock, Louie Parisha and Liam Morley.

Wheelodon hit his sixth and seventh goals during the first 10 minutes of the second half, his final goal – a fine strike from the edge of the box – arguably his best.

Sportsco competed well and got a consolation goal near the end, but were unfortunate to run into a Wryley side finding their best form of the campaign.

Bailey bridges the gap with equaliser

Witton Albion 1 Hednesford Town 1
BEN BAILEY scored a late equaliser to secure a point for Hednesford Town at Witton Albion in a pulsating game. It was almost impossible to decide on a deserved winner in an Evo-Stik Northern Premier Division match that saw each side dominate for periods of Saturday's game.

Both teams tested their opposing goalkeepers with The Pitmen having the better chances in the opening exchanges as Elliott Durrell stung the fingers of Witton's Stuart Plant on seven minutes before Dan Crane saved brilliantly at full stretch from Joshua Hancock.

Durrell fired in a free-kick which was parried away by Plant before Aaron Rey missed the best chance of the half when he picked up on a Bailey flick-on but scooped the ball over the bar when off balance from just six yards.

A potential turning point for The Pitmen came on 40 minutes when Neil Harvey turned Daniel Meadowcroft and was tugged back by the defender on the edge of the area. The referee hesitated but showed the red card. From the resulting free-kick, Nathan Woolfe

At the sound of the half-time whistle, The Pitmen faithful no doubt believed that the three points were there for the taking, but all credit to the home side for digging in.

With the away side failing to make their advantage tell, Bailey survived strong shouts from the terraces to join Meadowcroft in seeing red when he fouled Shaun Tuck. Seconds later it was Hednesford's captain Darren Campion who was sent off for a strong tackle deemed by the referee to be a straight red card.

Surprisingly, with the numbers now evened up, Hednesford looked more threatening and Woolfe measured a perfect left-footed cross which gave Rey the chance to score but the striker took his eye off the ball as Plant spread himself and shot wide.

Danny Andrews missed a glorious chance for Witton two minutes later as Crane came rushing out of his goal, then, on 83 minutes, Anthony Foster made no mistake from the penalty spot after a clear foul by the substitute Sam Barnes. The Pitmen were not to be denied a point, however, as their supporters looked on nervously. Bailey smashed in a rebound from a goal line clearance to equalise with three minutes remaining. Crane then saved brilliantly twice to secure what could turn out to be a very important point in the title race.

Witton Albion: Plant, Gardner, Wood, Glover, Meadowcroft, Sheehan, Hancock, Powell, Tuck, Foster, Andrews. Subs not used: James, Shaw, Moseley, Horne, Grocott. Hednesford Town: Crane, Disney (Barnes 71), Campion, Bailey, Francis, MacPherson, Osborne, Durrell, Harvey (Patterson 62), Rey (Lennon 80), Woolfe. Subs not used: Wright, Fincher.

Waple on target as Hayes grab a lifeline

Heath Hayes 1 Heather St John 0

HEATH HAYES picked up three vital points in this Midlands Alliance relegation battle on Saturday.

Dave Waple should have given the home side a sixth-minute lead when played in by Andrew Davies but curled his shot wide. Moments later Saints had keeper Pete McGuire to thank when he denied Waple.

At the other end Saints had their only clear-cut chance of the game when a long ball caught out the defence, and with keeper Adam Lane in no man's land, Harry Harris was left with an easy chance but hesitated and the ball was scrambled clear.

Two efforts from Hayes' Craig Hancox shaved the crossbar while Tom Green had a good effort blocked by impressive McGuire.

On 48 minutes Hayes got the break when Lee Smith played a ball into the path of Chad Degville-Cross and the winger beat two opponents and delivered a perfect cross for Waple to head home.

Chris Deakin came on for Tom Green on the hour and had chance to make the game safe but was denied.

Lining up – 700 set for race

MORE THAN 700 runners are set to take the start line for the Florette Fradley 10k this weekend. They will pound the streets from 10.30am on Sunday.

The atmosphere of the annual run is set to be even more charged as Great Britain international Tom Humphries makes his event debut. The Cannock and Stafford AC man is ranked No.3 in the UK for 5,000m.

Niki Webster, brand manager at Florette, said: "There's been a real local buzz around this year's Florette Fradley 10k. Runners for Team Florette are ready and raring to go and raise as much money as they can for St Giles Hospice in Lichfield – our team's chosen charity."

Kevin Wilson, of KP Events, added: "Entries have been flooding in for this year's event and it's not too late for any last-minute entries."

Scholars' young guns fire home for victory

Chasetown 2 Brigg Town 0
A GOAL in each half from Chasetown's young guns saw the Scholars keep back-to-back clean sheets in league games for the first time this season.

Chasetown looked confident and Gary Hay was clearly keen to make up for lost time, starting his first game since mid-January, writes Paul Mullins.

Inside the first few minutes on Saturday, Hay tried his luck from distance but visiting keeper Miles Fenty was equal to the effort.

An opening goal for The Scholars was no surprise and it came after 12 minutes of this Evo-Stik Northern Division One South game.

Nick Wellecomme raced onto a superb throughball and, as Fenty advanced, drove a low shot which the Brigg keeper got down well to save.

Pushed

But he only pushed the ball out as far as Lee Butler who slid it right-footed beyond the keeper inside his right-hand post for Butler's first goal for the senior side.

The visiting number one was by far the busier keeper and Fenty had to save well to keep out a bullet header from Jack Farmer as the home side took control.

Nick Wellecomme was lively throughout and did everything but score, heading over the bar just before half-time.

Dave Bate drove a shot over the bar at the start of the second half as Craig

Chasetown FC

Harris' men looked to force home their advantage.

It wasn't a classic game of football and Brigg Town hardly troubled Ryan Price in the Chase goal, on his way to back-to-back clean sheets in the league for the first time this season.

Man-of-the-match Butler was substituted to a standing ovation from the home fans, and it was his replacement, another graduate of the Chasetown Scholarship, that sealed the three points 11 minutes from time. Wellecomme got his second assist of the afternoon, teeing up Andy Westwood who thumped a shot into the roof of the net from outside the penalty area.

Bate flashed another shot narrowly off target as Chasetown moved into the top half of the league table.

Chasetown: Price, Farmer, Jackson, Slater, Bate, Teafa Robinson, Butler (Westwood, 75), Bragoli, Wellecomme (Clarke-O'Connell, 89), Hay (Purkiss, 58), Gould. Subs not used: Branch, Teesdale.

Brigg Town: Fenty, Ashton, Dudley, Davies, Hellewell, Fisher, Davis, Dickens, Holden, Grimes, Buttle (Downey, 65). Subs not used: Gee, Flett, Broughton, Zand.

First away treble in 10 years for boxing club

THREE Great Wyrley ABC boxers all took victory at a packed Kinghurst Social Club in Birmingham.

Each one fought class opposition but emerged triumphant – the first treble on the road for the club in 10 years.

Twins Mitchell and Reece Roberts, plus Mitchell Howie, all of them 17, did themselves proud with superb performances.

Roberts gets better and better. In a return against the host club's Jordan Letts (IBA ABC) the Wyrley boxer racked up his fourth straight win with a unanimous points decision.

Roberts set out his stall in round one, drawing Letts to him and then letting go fast combinations to head and body while receiving only the occasional jab back.

It was more of the same in round two, with Letts hesitant to pull the trigger as Roberts countered every move he made.

Roberts went on the offensive in the last round and backed up Letts with punches to head and body to take the verdict.

Coach Pete Hickenbottom said: "For me, Reece was the best boxer on the whole bill, and that's not knocking Mitch Roberts and Mitch Howie who said the same thing themselves. He carried an injury to his right thumb but he wanted to fight and I'm glad I let him, he was a delight to watch."

Welterweight Mitchell Howie scored a majority decision over a strong Joseph Shinton (Telford ABC).

Howie started strongly, firing in hard jabs and some good right hands to the body. Shinton got into the bout more in the second round, using his jab to pick Howie off.

But the Wyrley man, sent out by his corner to have a big last round, gave it his all and had his man hanging on.

Injury and illness meant that Mitchell Roberts was having his first bout only a couple of months before the end of the season. Crowd favourite Jack Melvin (IBA ABC) was in the opposite corner and Roberts needed all his strength and tenacity to gain a unanimous points decision.

Egan set to make the fans chuckle

CANNOCK'S Dave Egan has promised "something special" on the 70th anniversary show at Wolverhampton Civic Hall on Saturday night – before he even throws a punch, writes Craig Birch.

The former Chasetown footballer has raised laughs and earned the nick-name 'Handsome Dave' through his lively ring entrances.

Before defeating Paul Samuels at the Institute last September, Egan came out to the strains of Mr Boom-bastic, Shaggy's No.1 hit from 1995, and won on points. Then, at Walsall Town Hall in January, it was Barry White's 'I'm Gonna Love You Just a Little More Baby'.

Relaxed

The 29-year-old duly knocked out Ricky Stock in the first round and feels his winning streak can be attributed to feeling relaxed when coming into the ring.

It all stems from the ring announcer being instructed to call him 'Handsome Dave' before he fought at the Civic against Danny Dontchev last June.

Egan said: "I have got something special up my sleeve for this one, this should be the best one yet. You have got to have a bit of fun in the ring!"

"I am not one of these fighters who comes in all angry-faced and aggressive, staring at my opponent, I prefer to come in relaxed."

Billy Smith will be looking to have the last laugh when he's in the other corner at the Civic, as he collides with Egan in a four-round light welterweight contest.

'The Gypsy Boy' has just competed in his 150th professional contest and is a rock-hard brawler.

Wellecombe end to six-match goal drought

Northwich Victoria 0 Chasetown 1

NICK WELLECOMME ended a six-match goal drought with a superb first-half strike to earn Chasetown their third consecutive win, writes Paul Mullins.

In the 27th minute on Tuesday, the Scholars' No.9 used his strength to hold off Vics full-back Kevin Leadbetter and advanced before firing a powerful shot goalwards.

Home keeper Stephen Dickinson got a touch on the ball but was unable to prevent Wellecombe notching his 13th goal of the season – his first since mid-January.

Prior to that, it was Northwich who were in the ascendancy in this Evo-Stik Northern

Chasetown

Premier Division One South match. But the only shot on target was a fierce long-range effort from Gary McEvatt which forced Ryan Price into a stunning full-stretch save. The reverse fixture just 10 days ago had hinged on a controversial handball on the line by Vics' Jack Duggan and the away following were hoping for justice.

Northwich offered little in front of goal and the closest either side went to another goal before the break was a Jono Gould effort high over the crossbar after his mazy run finished the chance out of nothing.

Joel Purkiss replaced Gary Hay at the start of the second period and Chasetown continued to put their hosts under pressure from the start of the half.

It took another fine stop from Price to deprive Joe Bunney though, to preserve the visitors' lead on their way to their third consecutive clean sheet for the first time in almost three years.

If Duggan's game at The Scholars Ground had been tinged with controversy, then his contribution here brought more of the same. Just after the 70-minute mark, a fabulous piece of skill from Wellecombe took the ball beyond Duggan. Wellecombe tumbled to the ground under his challenge but to the visitors' surprise the referee waved away the penalty appeals. Wellecombe would have had just Dickinson to beat, so a penalty award would surely have brought a red card for Duggan with it.

Purkiss tested Dickinson with a shot from distance that bounced up awkwardly and the keeper was perhaps fortunate to gather the ball at the second attempt.

A second half littered with niggly fouls culminated in Northwich being reduced to 10 men when Brian Summerskill received a second yellow card for the second of two poorly-timed tackles.

Hat-trick in Hayes shocker

Studley 4 Heath Hayes 0

IT WAS another one of those games when nothing went right for Heath Hayes as their Midland Alliance relegation fears mount.

After six minutes on Tuesday a harmless-looking effort from Matthew Collins somehow trickled into the net. Ten minutes later another tame effort from Collins somehow eluded everyone and found its way into the goal.

Hayes came back strongly and had what appeared to be a good goal from Dave Waple cancelled out by the assistant referee's flag after Chad Degville-Cross had centred from the dead ball line.

On 65 minutes they were on the end of what they regarded as another poor decision when Tom Baggott was bundled over attempting to clear and Collins fired the ball home to complete a rather fortunate hat-trick.

Just to rub salt into the wounds another tame effort – this time from substitute Jason Ramsey – was spilled by keeper Adam Braddock, a last-minute replacement for Adam Lane who couldn't get time off from work, and finished in the net.

KEEPER'S HEROICS KEY TO VITAL WIN

Hednesford Town 2 AFC Fylde 0

HEDNESFORD TOWN goalkeeper Dan Crane played a huge part in an important victory for The Pitmen at a cold and foggy Keys Park.

His string of saves, especially in the first half, kept AFC Fylde at bay on Tuesday.

The home side rode their luck in the first period but showed a real will to win in the second half.

The three points, against a team who had won five in a row before this game, could prove vital in the Evo-Stik Northern Premier title race.

Hednesford weren't at the races in a first half when the away side were given far too much space to play football.

But for the intervention of Crane on no fewer than five occasions, Fylde would have been ahead before Dave MacPherson's long-range shot slipped through the grip of Ben Hinchcliffe on 40 minutes.

Fingertips

Crane made another outstanding save just after half time, getting fingertips to a long range free-kick which hit the inside of the post.

Ben Bailey struck the woodwork with a powerful header from a corner on 54 minutes as The Pitmen's workrate and desire transformed the game in the final half-hour.

Fylde's passing football was disrupted and Hednesford's increased effort was epitomised by the tireless running of Kyle Paterson in midfield and imperious defending by Francino Francis.

Aaron Rey's tricky play down the wing set up Durrell whose low shot was saved by Hinchcliffe just after the hour and, as Fylde chased an equaliser, Crane made another sprawling save to deny substitute

Substitute Michael Lennon celebrates his goal

Adam Farrell from distance.

The Hednesford faithful encouraged their team and in stoppage time Elliott Durrell beat the full-back and crossed for Michael Lennon to score a second goal, to leave the Pitmen a single point behind leaders North Ferriby going into last night's (Wednesday's) fixtures.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Disney, Campion, Bailey, Francis, MacPherson, Osbourne, Durrell, Harvey (Lennon 82), Rey, Patterson (Wright 87). Subs not used: Barnes, Woolfe, Fincher.

AFC Fylde: Hinchcliffe, Haslam, Sumner, Hughes, Carden (Winter 85), Dunn (Dorney 65), M Barnes, B Barnes, Dean, McCarthy, (Booth 73), Cooke. Subs not used: Farrell, Taylor.

Attendance: 295.
